Kennedy Plans Address On Berlin; Says Russ Threatening World Peace

Don't Knock Knocknaboul!

Irish wrath was directed yesterday at the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On the board's agenda was a proposal to change the name of Knocknaboul Way in Terra Linda to Sandalwood Way.

Planning Director Mary Summers had a petition from occupants of 15 homes on the street, asking the change.

But in stormed P. J. Tarran, developer of Las Colindas subdivision, which includes Knocknaboul Way. He objected to the change—strenuously.

"What is the meaning of Knocknaboul?" asked chairman William D. Fusselman.

"It's the name of the town where I was born in Ireland," replied Tarrant.

Faced with this excellent reason for the name, the board decided to take another look at the matter July 25.

SECRETS OUT

Illegal Meetings Measure Signed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A member of a local council, board or commission taking part in any action at an illegal secret meeting after Sept. 15 could spend six months in jail and pay a $500 fine.

This is a major provision in a bill signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday putting teeth in the eight-year-old Brown Act.

The act, originally sponsored by Assembly Speaker Ralph Brown, (D-Modesto) requires meetings of local public bodies to be open to the press and public unless they pertain to national security or personnel matters.

The new bill also:

Extends the prohibition on secret meetings to agencies operated by private corporations which have public officials on the board and receive public money.

Provides that citizens can ask the courts to prevent or stop officials from acting at the secret meetings.

The bill, by Assemblyman John Busterud, (R-San Francisco), defines "action" as a collective decision, commitment or promise by a majority of the actual members as well as an actual vote.

It does not void actions taken at secret meetings. A bill that would have wiped out such actions was vetoed by Brown earlier on the grounds that it would encourage disgruntled citizens to hold up legislation with legal challenges.

East Germany Brands Refugees 'Traitors'

BERLIN (AP) — East German refugees streaming to West Berlin were denounced today as traitors by their Communist homeland's official party newspaper, Neues Deutschland.

"They are double traitors," Neues Deutschland declared, because it is just at this point that the fight between peace-loving people the Communists and the atomic warmongers the Western powers is entering a decisive stage."

But Red police still made no overt moves to blockade escape routes via East Berlin. The normal flow of refugees increased sharply July 8, the beginning of the school vacation in East Germany.

The estimated rate now is 2,000 a day. Many of the refugees are fearful that the Communists will seal off the city as an escape hatch to the West.

The Communist propaganda blast coincided with the opening of a German Protestant church rally in Berlin. Major events of the five-day gathering will be held in West Berlin.

The Communists have banned everything except regular church services in their sector and declared that East Germans attending the rally would be violating the law.

Marinite Tells Story Of Berlin

A 17-year-old Tamalpais High School student has found himself in the center of international tension as an Experiment in International Living "ambassador" to West Berlin.

Harry Herr Jr. of 421 Rose Avenue, Mill Valley, wrote the Independent-Journal today:

"The situation in Berlin is made more tense by the possibility of a peace pact between East Germany and Russia. The pact would probably benefit East Germany more than Russia, because then the air lift would be stopped legally, propaganda would infiltrate deeper, and West Berlin would be isolated.

'VERY STRONG'

"Against this the Germans are strong."

Young Herr wrote that during his trip through Germany to reach Berlin, he found an immediate change of atmosphere on entering the Red zone.

"Traveling through part of East Germany, we experienced a rare situation among Americans," he wrote. "The atmosphere changed almost immediately past the border from a happy, light air to a cold and heavy burden. Everyone we met (personnel that checked our baggage, passports, etc.) were unfriendly, excepting one lady who was very kind.

SAW TROOPS

"We saw many East German and Russian troops along the railroad tracks, guarding the trains or shipping tanks from one place to another. There were also many propaganda signs denouncing the coming free election in West Berlin and all forms of democracy."

There are reports in Berlin, wrote Herr, that if Chancellor Konrad Adenauer wins re-election over West Berlin Mayor Willie Brandt, he will step down in favor of a younger man. But "from what I have heard, he will stand in for his term," declared the Mill Valley youth.

Young Herr is spending his summer in the home of Harold Bosuner in the Charlottenburg section of Berlin.

Chief Dispatches Rattle Snake With Rifle, Fire Axe

Marinwood Fire Chief Donald Ray dispatched a three-foot rattlesnake with a .22-calibre rifle and a fire axe shortly before noon today.

Chief Ray said a woman called from 481 Blackstone Drive to report the rattlesnake was in the patio of her yard. "What shall I do?" she asked.

'Leave it alone. I'll be there," replied the fire chief.

He did not get the resident's name. The house at 481 Blackstone was completed only recently.

Final Decision Due On Arms Buildup

COMBINED UPI & AP

WASHINGTON—President John F. Kennedy said today he will reveal to the American people and the world next week what steps will be taken "toward strengthening the military position of the United States" against Russian threats to Berlin.

Kennedy made the announcement to a crowded news conference after issuing a special statement urging Russia "to reconsider its course, to return to the path of constructive cooperation it so frequently states it desires."

The president said the decisions on bolstering U.S. military strength will be concluded at a special security council meeting this afternoon.

He said the NATO allies will be consulted and that he then will go on TV and radio next Tuesday night to report personally to the American people.

The following day, Kennedy will ask Congress for whatever measures the administration decides must be taken.

It has been reported that Kennedy is considering a declaration of national emergency

PETER BEHR
Recall committee's choice

Behr May Run Should Blair Be Recalled

Peter Behr, 46-year-old attorney and former Mill Valley councilman, was announced by the "Recall Blair Committee" today as its candidate to succeed J. Walter Blair as county supervisor if Blair is recalled.

Behr lives with his wife and three children at 212 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, and has his law office in San Francisco.

He said today that it would be premature and "brash" to issue any sort of statement until a sufficient number of recall petition signatures have been certified, but he expressed willingness to run.

"I have no intention of moving my law practice," he said, "but if a sufficient number of petition signatures are obtained, I will pledge to spend not less than half my time, if elected, in Marin County working at the job of supervisor."

Behr is an 11-year resident of the county. He served one term as Mill Valley councilman, which ended last year when he declined to run to succeed himself. He has also served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission, has been president of the Mill Valley Commuters Club, and active in other civic work. He is a Republican.

Born in New York City, Behr received a bachelor's degree in history from Yale University and his L.L.B. degree in 1940 from Yale Law School.

He served in the Navy from 1941 through 1945 as a deck officer, leaving with the rank of lieutenant commander.

While still in uniform Behr married the former Sally Clarkson of Pennsylvania, a Grissom ready . . .

Astronaut May Go Up On Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Virgil I. Grissom lay on his back atop about 30 tons of treacherous rocket fuel for three hours and 22 minutes today and was disappointed when it failed to fire.

The stubby, muscular little Air Force captain from Mitchell, Ind., was more than ready to ride a Redstone rocket 115 miles into the Florida sky and become the nation's second man in space. Clouds forced a postponement, but Grissom will try again Friday.

NO LETDOWN

If he felt any letdown from the hours of tension and the big letdown, he didn't show it. He returned to the guarded isolation of the astronaut quarters on Cape Canaveral and immediately began boning up for the next try.

Ten years of self-discipline learned as a jet combat pilot in Korea, a jet instructor and an Air Force test pilot—backed up by the exhaustive space training given all seven astronauts — brought Grissom through the waiting that is harder than action.

"He was comfortable (in the space capsule). Doctors said his physical condition was excellent, and psychologically he just wanted to go," said Lt. Col. John A. Powers, Project Mercury information officer.

STRANGE DAY

It had been a strange day for "Gus" Grissom.

His rocket flight, to follow the trail blazed May 5 by astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., had been postponed for 24 hours yesterday because of the weather even before Grissom was to have donned his 20-pound space suit.

He went to bed and slept until Dr. William K. Douglas awakened him early today. Then he called for a trencherman's breakfast of steak, eggs, orange juice, toast, jelly, coffee and peaches.

When scientists moved his scheduled takeoff time up an hour in hopes of beating the weather, he asked Powers to call his wife and tell her he would be going to work earlier than planned.

It's Hot Again, But Relief May Be On Way

It was hot again today, no question about it.

The mercury rose to 100 in Woodacre, 94 in San Anselmo and Novato, 90 in Larkspur and Tamalpais Valley at noon.

It was a little more comfortable in Fairfax, which recorded 86, San Rafael, 84; Mill Valley, 85 and Sausalito, 75 (in the shade.)

The Weather Bureau again forecast slightly cooler and fair weather, except for fog near the ocean tomorrow morning.

Woodacre was the hottest spot in the county yesterday, with a high of 107 degrees.

Larkspur reported a high of 104, San Anselmo and Novato 101, San Rafael 100, Fairfax 95, Sausalito 88, Mill Valley 83.

The low in San Rafael during the night was 61, a drop of nearly 40 degrees from the day's high.

William R. Seegar, manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, said if the stretch of unusually hot weather keeps up, water users will have to be careful. The current supply has to be stretched until the Nicasio dam water is available between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1, he said.

ARGENTINA PLANE CRASH FATAL TO 67

American Oil Man Listed Among Victims; Air Accident In Ohio Claims Four Lives

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Sixty-seven persons, including at least one American, were reported today to have been killed in the flaming crash of an Argentine airlines DC-6 at Azul, 160 miles south of here.

The American victim was identified as an Oklahoma oil man, Wilbur Taylor, who worked for the Loffland Brothers drilling firm of Caracas, Venezuela. He was aboard when the plane left Buenos Aires.

Airline officials said two families were wiped out in the plane crash.

They identified them as the six-member family of Naed Parodi, an Argentine who was not otherwise identified, and Argentine oil man Andres Gorla's family of four, including two children.

Gorla was identified as a staff member of the Pan American Oil Company in Comodoro Rivadavia, Patagonian oil capital.

Two other foreign names were on the plane passenger list — Hilda M. Anderson and Nicholas Cunningham — but their nationality was not immediately established.

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (UPI)—A twin-engine airplane crashed into an embankment while trying to land during a heavy rainstorm near here today and killed its four occupants.

The Cessna 310, piloted by Ben Shacket, 42, a special investigator for the Wayne County prosecutor's office in Detroit, Mich., attempted to land at a small field here but took off for another approach after touching the wheels.

The state highway patrol said the plane struck the corner of a house a half mile north of here, and crashed into an embankment.

The house suffered only slight damage.

In addition to Shacket, the victims were identified as Jacob Milton Woolf, 43, his wife, Evelyn Estelle, 39, and Shacket's wife, Norma, all of Detroit.

Jet Crashes Off Marin, Pilot Safe

A pilot from Travis Air Force Base bailed out safely from his crippled F-102 jet fighter last night near Dillon Beach as his plane went into the ocean.

First Lt. Kayland E. Call, 25, of Fairfield, was on a "routine" night mission, about an hour away from his base, when the supersonic fighter developed engine trouble above 40,000 feet, the Travis information office reported.

Call used emergency procedures, but the engine stayed "rough" and flamed out. He headed the aircraft toward the ocean and ejected at about 20,000 feet.

The plane apparently landed in the ocean. No report was received of property damage, injury or debris. Units from Hamilton Air Force Base were searching for debris today.

Call landed uninjured and called Hamilton from Lawson's store in Dillon Beach. Marin County sheriff's deputies picked him up and took him to the Hamilton hospital for a checkup.

The pilot, attached to the 82nd Fighter Squadron at Travis, had left on his mission about 8:36 p.m. Engine trouble developed about an hour later.

Call has a wife, Virjean, and two children, a son, Eric M. and a daughter, Deon. His parents live in Afton, Wyoming.

Teamsters Voting On 'Last Offer'

General pickup and delivery driver members of 10 Teamster Union locals, including Marin County Local 624, today were voting by mail ballot on an employers' "last offer" much below the union's contract demands.

Votes will continue to be received until the end of the week. Rejection might mean a strike affecting areas from Santa Rosa to Salinas and involving 10,000 drivers, a union spokesman said.

Tunisia Charges French Attack

PARIS (AP) — The Tunisian government radio charged French planes dropped paratroopers on Bizerte and strafed Tunisian anti-aircraft defenses today. The Tunisians returned the fire.

The outbreak swelled tension in the dispute between France and Tunisia over continued French control of the Bizerte air-naval base. (See also story on page 12.)

Laos Talks Smooth Out

GENEVA (AP) — The international conference on Laos broke a 10-week deadlock today by accepting a British-Soviet compromise on procedure.

Daily sessions of the 14-nation conference will be suspended starting tomorrow while delegation chiefs work out a program for Laotian neutrality in closed meetings.

The proposal said the working commissions would start with the neutrality draft and then go on to details of controlling the cease-fire.

Kennedy Has Emergency Power

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A declaration of a national emergency by President John F. Kennedy would give him enough authority to take all measures being considered for a short-term Berlin crisis, in the opinion of government legal experts.

On his own declaration, the president could call up as many as a million reserves, could sharply increase the draft, and could suspend competitive bidding on defense purchases.

But, if the crisis should be extended, the legal experts think the president would have to go to Congress for more authority as well as for the money to pay for emergency operations.

The administration has been considering in the past two weeks only short-term measures, which if adopted, would strengthen American forces during the next six months.

In one key area—the possible commandeering of commercial planes for troop or supply airlifts—a presidential declaration would not provide any additional authority.

However, the defense department has voluntary agreements with the private airlines under which a large number of planes could be chartered immediately on a declaration of emergency by the defense secretary.

A presidential declaration also would fail to provide authority to keep men in service beyond the expiration of their enlistment, draft or reserve obligation terms.

Only a congressional declaration can require service "for the duration." In the case of enlistees, and draftees, the experts believe, legislation would be needed to extend their terms.

The legal situation is highly complicated because the Korean War emergency declared by President Harry Truman on Dec. 16, 1950, has never entirely lapsed.

As a result, many standby powers under the Truman emergency could still be invoked.

The president has power to call up virtually all of the "ready" reserves, including the National Guard. Congressional action is necessary to call up the 1.3 million men in the "standby" reserves.

COLORED MONEY IDEA IS NOT DEAD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Treasurer Elizabeth Rudel Smith said today her proposal for printing money on colored paper "is not dead" but "deferred."

Mrs. Smith of Kentfield said Treasury Secretary Dillon has taken no formal position on the idea and has not yet brought it to President John F. Kennedy's attention.

Dillon and other key treasury officials are known to be cool to Mrs. Smith's idea for printing bills of each denomination above $1 in a different color.

Mrs. Smith said she has found "impressive public acceptance" for colored money. She said some 200 letters to her ran three or four to one in favor of the proposal.

Cave Explorers Are Found Dead

ORLEANS, Ind. (AP) — Two young cave explorers were found drowned early today, lying side by side in an uncharted deadend passage where a flash flood trapped them Sunday.

Ralph S. Moreland Jr., 25, Knox, Ind., and Tom Arnold, 25, Peru, Ind., had apparently crawled 150 feet up the two-foot high side passage when the first of three cloudbursts swamped the cave.

The two Indiana University graduate students evidently had been dead hours before the underground stream receded enough to allow rescue attempts to be started Monday.

"The first heavy rain got them," said Robert Armstrong, 26, Indianapolis, leader of the party which found the bodies.

Armstrong said debris marks showed the water had reached the ceiling of the low cavern cell.

The bodies were two-thirds of a mile inside the twisting limestone cave, located eight miles west of this southern Indiana town and 30 miles north of the Ohio River. It took four hours to bring the bodies out.

'Sweat Box' Marine Had Prison DTs

SAN BRUNO (AP)—A Marine had delirium tremens and had to be hospitalized during 43 days of imprisonment in a concrete "sweat box" on Okinawa, his Marine attorney charged yesterday.

Lt. Col. James E. Stauffer sought before a three-member special board of review of the Navy Judge Advocate General to wipe out the court martial of Pvt. Stobo C. West.

Stauffer, who said the concrete box confinement preceded West's conviction of black marketing activities, told the board:

"After the fourth day in this black box, he was taken to the base hospital where he spent five days under treatment for delirium tremens. Then he was taken back to the black box."

American farmers utilize 24 billion kwh of electricity annually, about five per cent of the nation's total output.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Policy Change?

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro and his cabinet met for seven hours last night hammering out details of new policies the prime minister is expected to announce at the July 26 celebration of his revolution.

Reports have circulated that Castro may announce creation of a single all-powerful proletarian party when he addresses a mammoth rally marking the eighth anniversary of his revolt against dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Search For Killer

SAN LUIS OBISPO (UPI)—Authorities—armed with a more detailed sketch of the suspect—today spread through seven states the search for the highwayman who killed a Fontana steelworker.

Officers hoped either the new sketch, clues from a 22-caliber revolver used in the Sunday morning slaying, or the description of the auto would lead to the capture of the killer, who tried to rape the victim's wife after shooting him.

The gun was used to pump two bullets into the body of Joseph W. Yilek, 27.

Funeral services for Yilek will be held tomorrow. His widow told friends she planned to attend despite her injuries.

Balloon Falls

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP)—A huge plastic balloon sent aloft for cosmic ray experiments plummeted to earth two hours after its launching last night when lightning apparently triggered its control mechanism.

Ed Owen, president of Raven Industries, Sioux Falls, S. D., manufacturer of the big bag, said it had reached 90,000 feet altitude before dropping into a wildnerness area about 20 miles north of the launch site.

The 13½ million cubic foot unmanned balloon carried 200 pounds of scientific equipment to study radiation hazards of man's space travel.

Closed To Negroes

MAPLEWOOD, Mo. (UPI)—The Maplewood municipal swimming pool was ordered closed yesterday when about 35 Negries appeared and tried to buy tickets.

Mayor Thomas S. Richardson, who ordered the closure, said the pool has had a policy of not admitting Negroes since it was opened in 1936. Maplewood is a St. Louis suburb.

Political Unity

BONN (AP)—The six European Common Market nations, already bound together by economic ties, have taken a step toward formal political unity.

Their government chiefs agreed yesterday to meet regularly in the future "to give the unity of their people a statutory character within the shortest possible time."

Suez Contract

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese firm has won a contract in international bidding to dredge the Suez Canal, the foreign office announced today.

Mizuno Gumi Co. of Hiroshima will sign the $4,720,000 contract with the United Arab Republic government in Cairo July 25, the announcement said.

Khan Home

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—President Ayub Khan returned today from the United States. Hundreds gathered in heavy rain at Karachi's international airport to welcome him.

Red Aides Banned

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI)—The newly formed committee for an awakened America today was successful in forcing the cancellation of a five-day observation visit by three Communist mayors and two other officials from Yugoslavia.

Announcement of the cancellation "in the best interests of the community" was made by F. Robert Coop, city manager.

A protest telegram, signed by 100 Southern California residents, had been sent to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Britain Pullout

KUWAIT (UPI)—Britain today began carrying out its promised withdrawal of a large part of its Kuwait emergency force.

Military air transports loaded with troops took off from Farwania Aifport at the rate of two an hour. A military spokesman said troops being pulled out after 19 days in the tiny sheikdom included marine commandos, paratroopers and engineers.

Tribesmen Fleeing

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—United Nations sources reported that hundreds of tribesmen were fleeing to escape a new wave of murder and torture that has erupted in the Congo's Kasai Province.

U.N. experts said that forces of South Kasai "King" Albert Kalonji were on the rampage against Kanioka tribesmen, burning villages and killing rival tribal members.

One unconfirmed report reaching here said "thousands of women and children" had been shot and burned in the course of violence in the Kanioka tribal area, but there was no official confirmation.

Liz Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor was scheduled for plastic surgery today to remove a throat scar resulting from her near-fatal bout with pneumonia earlier this year.

Gold Fever

JACKSON (UPI)—Two men who stirred gold fever in this old Mother Lode town turned out to be almost broke.

Carl Peterson, 68, a local miner, and Ernest Losee, 60, an Oakland housepainter, were reported to have set the town buzzing by flashing gold on Main street and boasting of a big strike.

The excitement led to questions; the questions led to Judge James Deasy, who Monday found them guilty of trespassing on a gold claim.

Deasy suspended the fines because the men did not have enough money or gold to pay.

Korea Plans

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The chief of South Korea's ruling military junta said the junta will announce by Aug. 15 plans for the return of power to a civilian government.

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung said the junta would announce the future form of government and the time of transfer of power to civilians. He refused to give details.

Lie Test Fails

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—A Texas official said today William Estel Benson, 41, may have to convict himself if he wants to be punished as possibly the biggest mass murder in American history.

Benson, an ex-convict with a record of mental illness, claims to have sabotaged gas pipes and caused the New London, Tex., school explosion March 18, 1937 that killed 293 students and teachers.

He took a lie dectector test yesterday to prove he was telling the truth. But he was so nervous physically and in such a mental state that the test was inclusive.

TRYING TO 'FRY ME'

Eichmann Gets Angry Over '57 Interview

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Adolf Eichmann today accused the Israeli prosecution of trying to "fry" him until he gives the answers the prosecution wants.

The former Gestapo officer charged with major complicity in the mass slaughter of the Jews threatened to stop replying to questions about his 1957 interview with a Dutch journalist. Presiding Judge Moshe Landau roundly rebuked him.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner tried repeatedly to draw from Eichmann an acknowledgment that the interviews he gave in Argentina to Wilhelm Sassen were accurate.

In the interviews, once intended as the basis for a book on the Jewish holocaust, Eichmann allegedly expressed regret that the extermination of Europe's Jews was not completed.

The defendant parried question after question from Hausner, admitted handwritten corrections in Sassen's manuscript were his own, but insisted they were not final and that he repudiated the whole thing.

"I stopped correcting," said Eichmann, "and gave up the entire project because there were too many errors and it was not worth it."

When Hausner refused to accept this, Eichmann boomed: "I will no longer answer to any questions about this document because it is completely false."

"You will continue to answer questions until I tell you that you are free to step down."

"Yes, sir, Mr. President," Eichmann said. "But I have the feeling I am being fried here until the rump steak is well done, until they elicit from me the answer they want."

The altercation faded away as the court took its regular mid-morning recess.

Earlier, the prosecutor blazed away at Eichmann as the real key figure in the secret police setup in Nazi Berlin but got back the steady reply that his rank of lieutenant colonel was a low rank, on the level of taking orders, not giving them.

Protocol Chief's Wife Dies In Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, descendant of Spanish aristocracy and wife of the State Department's chief of protocol died with two other socially prominent women and a pilot yesterday in the flaming crash of a light plane in a Queens residential area.

The plane, with one of its doors apparently swinging open, plunged almost straight down into a flower garden only blocks from LaGuardia Field.

The two other women killed were Mrs. Arthur Altschul, 29, wife of a Wall Street broker, and Mrs. Stanley Warren Metcalf, wife of an Auburn, N.Y., business executive. The pilot was Paul Dubuke, 29.

KENT SECOND GRADERS 'BUILD' CASTLES

Kentfield School District this year included second graders in its summer session for the first time. Forty-seven of them are attending in two classes at Kent School. And their entire program is about medieval times. The youngsters — perhaps in reversion from missiles and men-in-space—seem to love it. But these four, putting castles on blackboard under supervision of teacher Margaret Robertine, show space-age influence in castle parapets. From left are Victor Ruggles, Robin Dix, Perry Fine and John Clark. (Independent-Journal photo)

Pay Increase Demand For Bruce Is Snubbed

Marin County Supervisor Walter R. Castro embarrassed his majority colleagues yesterday by demanding action about a pay raise for County Administrator Alan Bruce. They swept it back under the rug for another week.

Castro pointed out that the board had been ducking this subject though it was on a schedule of appointments and step increases prepared by the auditor's office July 7. All others have been passed.

"Why waste time on what should be an automatic increase?" asked Castro, who voted to keep Bruce when three others voted in May to do away with his job.

Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell brought out that the increase was overdue a month and a half. Chairman William D. Fusselman professed amazement.

"It's being held up in finance committee," finally said Supervisor J. Walter Blair, committee chairman.

"Why?" asked Castro, though it was Blair who led the discharge move later overturned by popular petition.

"We want a chance to discuss it," said Blair.

"According to ordinance you have to give it," Castro declared.

"No you don't," said Blair. He was supported in this view by Fusselman.

Mitchell produced an ordinance by which in 1959 the board provided automatic increase six months after appointment in cases of promotion involving "increased responsibility and different work." Bruce went from assistant to administrator at the first of this year.

Fusselman asked if such boosts needed board approval and Mitchell said no step increases could be made without board action. However, Fusselman conceded that the increases had always been made.

A move by Castro to grant the boost received no second. Blair said his committee will report next week.

Fire Trail Asked For Sausalito

Councilman George E. Keeney suggested to the Sausalito City Council last night that the Army be asked to maintain a fire trail about 20 feet wide on the city's south boundary near Fort Baker.

A brush and grass fire burned a large area there last week. "If the fire had continued into the eucalyptus trees, 'Old Town' in Sausalito would have been wiped out," declared Keeney.

Finance Dept. Approved For Sausalito

Sausalito will have a financial department after the retirement of City Clerk Amelie Smith at the end of this month, and City Manager Charles Brown will name the director.

The city council so voted last night, 4 to 1. Councilman George E. Keeney, lone dissenter, objected to a finance director serving at Brown's pleasure. His attempt to amend the motion to make the director answerable to the city council died for lack of a second, however.

Mrs. Smith has handled the city's financial affairs. Russell Papenhausen, chamber of commerce president objected that the city clerk is elective, and naming of a finance director by Brown would be "taking something away from the people."

Councilman Michael Harris moved creation of the new department.

The council thanked Mrs. Smith for her 17 years service, Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. pointing out that she had specifically forbidden presentation of a parchment scroll.

Mrs. Smith suggested Brown be named city clerk. The council took no action on this.

The official flower of the District of Columbia is the American Beauty Rose.

Sausalito Council Hearing Set On New Sign Ordinance

The Sausalito City Council last night set for Sept. 5 a public hearing on a proposed stronger new sign ordinance.

Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. meanwhile referred the proposed new law to the Chamber of Commerce.

City Manager Charles A. Brown read a report from the city planning commission asserting it did not want to see Sausalito streets carry as gaudy a display as "Geary, Lombard and Van Ness in San Francisco."

A dissent from the planning commission's proposed ordinance was reported from R. L. Nissen of the commission.

Paul Micou, planning commission chairman, wrote the council that Nissen "felt that the requirement that all signs be flat against buildings was too stringent and that small overhanging signs should be permitted."

Innocent Plea To Tipsy Cruise

Malcolm Ross Rodgers of San Francisco, accused of driving his 27-foot cruiser through San Rafael Canal while intoxicated on July 5, pleaded innocent yesterday and demanded a jury trial.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court continued the case until 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday. The date for a jury trial will be set at that time.

Coast Guardsmen said Rodgers ran aground in the canal twice within an hour. He and his wife were aboard his cruiser, Skoolzout.

Sausalito Hasn't Given Up Fight For Underwater Lots

The City of Sausalito hasn't given up its fight to acquire underwater Shelter Cove lots as "view insurance."

The city council last night directed City Atty. John B. Ehlen to file notice of intention to appeal a court ruling forbidding the city to acquire the lots.

The city had arranged to purchase five lots from Walter L. Benson for $63,000, as result of agitation against commercial development on the waterfront which would block the view of the bay.

Russell S. Reagan, a Sausalito resident, filed suit to prevent the purchase. In April, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of Marin Superior Court ruled for Reagan, holding the city must either rescind the purchase or submit the matter to referendum.

Handle insecticides with care. Most of them can poison people and animals if they are handled carelessly.

Trimaran From Marin Is Sighted

One of two Trimarans from Marin County en route to Hawaii was sighted yesterday by a Coast Guard search plane, 125 miles east of Honolulu, the Coast Guard reported today.

Both of the Trimarans were seen by a Liberian freighter last Thursday, sailing smoothly and in no trouble, the Coast Guard said.

An all-ships lookout was broadcast Monday for the two three-hulled craft: the 35-foot Lodestar, skippered by Trimaran designer Arthur Piver of Mill Valley, and the 24-foot Triumph, skippered by Richard Gerling of Oakland and Mill Valley.

The Coast Guard reported the Lodestar was sighted by the search plane yesterday. Last Thursday, the Liberian freighter Vrancados sighted both boats about 800 miles from Honolulu, its skipper reported after the alert was broadcast.

Both Trimarans are due in Honolulu tomorrow.

Aboard the Lodestar with Piver are William Goodman, former Sausalitan now a resident of Denmark; Fred Jukick of Sausalito, and Larry Williams, a University of Oregon student. Aboard the Triumph with Gerling is Ned Dwyer of Mill Valley.

Connell Ordered To Juvenile Hall

Jeffrey Kelsey Connell, 17-year-old Mill Valley youth who admits taking part in a Reno holdup-murder last March, was ordered transferred yesterday from county jail to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Connell thus joins another 17-year-old, Clifford Fortner, who killed a 12-year-old girl in Kentfield in 1959.

Connell is being held for extradition to Nevada for the killing of grocer Jack Griffis, 54. Connell says his friend Richard Worrell, 16, of Reno, fired the fatal shot, and he (Connell) merely went into the store to give Worrell "moral support."

Judge N. Charles Brusatori yesterday ordered Connell held in juvenile hall until his extradition is decided.

Tiburon Peninsula Club Meeting Set

The Tiburon Peninsula Club will hold a quarterly membership meeting July 25.

The club's board Monday night named Mrs. Angelo Mirata as a director to replace Mrs. John Delmar, who moved away, announced Helen Issel, club manager.

Employees Lose Wage Dispute In Sausalito

A hearing for which two Sausalito city employees fought for five years resulted last night in rejection of their claims.

The Sausalito Board of Review reported to the city council it had found, 4-to-1, against the wage grievances of Wilma Young and Hazel Pierachini, employees in the city clerk's office. Frank B. Williams dissented from the finding.

The majority—Robert Gunn, chairman, Alan H. Scurfield, Earl Thompson and Joshua Soske Jr.—found that:

"While it may be argued that the clandestine manner in which the city council reduced the pay of appellants was injudicious, the Board of Review concludes that under all of the circumstandces, said reductions in pay were not arbitrary and unreasonable."

The pay cuts were put in effect in 1956 under a different city council.

Dissenting, Williams found "That the reductions in pay were unreasonable under all of the circumstances."

At issue had been the act of a former city council in changing the status of Mrs. Young from a $260 a month basis to pay of $1.96 an hour, and of Mrs. Pierachini from $275 a month, to $1.96 an hour.

Mrs. Young later was upped to $2.31 an hour and Mrs. Pierachini to $2.40 an hour.

The review board found that prior to their being removed from a monthly pay basis, Mrs. Young had worked 26 hours a week and Mrs. Pierachini worked 28 hours per week.

After reading of the board's finding, Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said, "I hope this matter is put behind us."

Councilman Michael Harris said, "We did all we could to appoint a neutral board."

Review board members Gunn and Scurfield are former Sausalito mayors.

City clerk Amelie Smith, in emotional tones, said:

"I thank God I had the courage to fight for what was just. I call it (the pay cuts) arbitrary and unreasonable and cruel. It is called by many people a disgrace to Sausalito."

Mrs. Young has served the city nearly 17 years; Mrs. Pierachini, nearly 15 years.

Ehrlich praised their service last night and said he hoped they would long continue to serve the city.

Mrs. Smith said that through the five years of their fight in and out of court and before various city councils they had received smaller percentage pay increases than other city workers.

Car Story Strikes A Sour Note

When you're driving along peacefully and some unruly car rushes out of a driveway in front of you, there's not a thing to do but hit it—is there?

This argument advanced last night by John Addison Stark of 14 Claus Circle, Fairfax, failed to convince California Highway Patrolmen J. J. Flynn and John Courter.

They said the car Stark struck at 9:15 p.m., with considerable damage to his wife Charlotte and himself as well as the two vehicles, had been parked by its owner, Dr. Alan Balsam of Berkeley, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of Ash Avenue, San Anselmo, since 8:55 p.m.

This was Dr. Balsam's own story when he returned to find a wreck.

Stark told patrolmen the other car "suddenly came out of the trees from a driveway and cut in front of me."

He and Mrs. Stark were taken to Marin General Hospital where, according to the patrol report, "both violently refused treatment."

Stark was then removed to the county jail. Mrs. Stark, bleeding profusely from numerous cuts, eventually went to San Rafael General Hospital which noted that delay in emergency treatment until 12:25 a.m. was due to the fact that not until then would she sign a release.

Two Infants Try New Taste Treats

Two infants were treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital after one drank liquid soap and the other stove oil at home. Both were released in good condition.

Charles S. Oakander, 19 months, of 45 Medway Avenue, San Anselmo, swallowed a mouthful of soap, reported attendants. He is a son of Mrs. Doris Oakander.

The stove oil drinker was Pamela Carter, 18 months, daughter of Lewis Carter of 69 Cole Drive, Apt. 5, Marin City.

Industrial Group Names New Officers

President Daniel C. Davis of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation today announced composition of the organization's executive committee for the new fiscal year:

Named to serve were:

C. Howard Allen, San Anselmo realty broker; David A. Beadling, diode plant manager at Fairchild Semiconductor Corp., San Raafel; Hugh Cassidy, secretary of Marin County Labor Council, Dauglas M. Christensen, San Rafael contractor; Carlos E. Gonzalez, San Rafael civil engineer; Douglas R. Horton, district commercial manager, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Edward P. Morphy, San Rafael realty broker; Bernard Saccone, president of United Markets, San Rafael; Burt C. Wheeler, president of Larkspur Lumber Co., Larkspur.

Ex-officio members of the executive committee are the officers of the foundation, who in addition to Davis are: Elias S. Day, North Bay division manager, Pacific Gas and Electric Co.; Rex T. Silvernale, general manager of Hutchinson Co., Greenbrae; Ray Muir, manager, North Marin Title Company, Novato; Eugene A. Ostaggi, executive vice president, Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn., San Anselmo, and Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president, Marin County Savings and Loan Assn., San Rafael.

A first meeting of the new executive committee will be held tomorrow noon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Convicted Marin Slayer To Have Parole Hearing

Rodney Sheran, 42, former Mill Valley excavating contractor who killed his wife Esme, 43, in the Fairfax hills in 1955, will appear again before the California State Adult Authority in September for possible sentence determination and parole consideration.

Sheran, who beat his wife repeatedly with a two-pound rock, has been in San Quentin Prison since November, 1955, after he was sentenced to six months to 10 years.

Sheran, who lived with his wife in Greenbrae, originally was convicted by a jury of second degree murder. Judge Carlos R. Freitas cut the charge to manslaughter. Roger P. Garety, who prosecuted the case when he was assistant district attorney, appealed and the district court of appeals revised the verdict to second degree murder.

Sheran's attorney, Thomas Schaal, appealed and the state Supreme Court on Sept. 17, 1957, unanimously upheld Freitas in reducing the verdict to manslaughter.

Esme Sheran's battered body was found on a fire trail above the Meadow Club on May 26, 1955. Sheran vanished and was brought back from Oregon for his trial in Marin County.

NOVATO CITY AIDE ASKS PAY BOOST

Administrator Brings Up Subject Of Own Raise At Budget Hearing

By ELLEN BRY

Novato City Administrator J. Julien Baget last night proposed a $3,000 yearly pay hike for himself. City councilmen generally agreed he would get only part of that.

Councilmen were considering the proposed $334,350 budget for the 1962 fiscal year, with the expectation that the present 22-cent tax rate would continue but that part of it might be diverted for recreation use.

The budget for the fiscal year just closed, the first one for the new city, was $240,354.

Baget suggested a salary hike was from his present $10,500 to $13,500.

Mayor Wayne Womack said he had been thinking of a raise of about $1,800 yearly for the administrator.

Councilman Everett Pozzi agreed with Womack's figure; Councilman John J. Angeloni said he favored an unspecified smaller pay hike. Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva suggested a $1,200 raise.

Baget's only supporter was Councilman Charles R. Johnson, who noted that Baget had gained the city some $20,000 additional yearly from state gasoline tax rebates by authorizing a special census, that he had set up an efficient city organization and attracted "high type" city employees.

Baget's present salary is the same he had at Ojai, Ventura County, as city manager before coming to Novato, Sept. 11, 1960.

City councilmen agreed to take the matter "under advisement."

Baget opened the budget discussion by noting that the city's assessed valuation is about 17 million dollars.

The 22-cent tax rate, which now is used only to support street lighting costs, might be cut to 20 cents and still bring in about $35,000. The remaining two cents could be levied as a separate recreation tax, Baget suggested.

Alton Lerch, real estate agent, read a letter from the Novato Rotary Club which offered club help as liaison in obtaining rental of private recreation facilities this summer.

Lerch suggested the city might rent facilities at Silver Hills Country Club, which has four swimming pools; support a teen-age aviation program at the Novato Airport; back recreation programs at Indian Valley Golf Club and on grounds of the Novato Unified School District.

"You didn't mention anything about raising funds," countered Councilman Silva. Rental of facilities for this summer would mean "your not building a fund for anything (permanent) for the community," he said.

But the need for a recreation program this summer was backed by Mrs. William Carpenter and Mrs. John Machado, who offered with Lerch to check available facilities and return to the council with specific cost figures.

The budget has in it $22,915 as "unallocated," which Baget suggested be used for a capital improvement fund to finance land acquisition for city buildings, drainage master plan and other projects, including a recreation program to begin next summer.

The proposed budget also shows a year-end balance in the general fund next June 30 of $220,225.

The budget includes $3,000 for Monte Maria area (the city took over the Monte Maria Community Services district following incorporation and area residents are taxed separately for the special city service); $73,240 for the police department (up $20,000); building inspection, $18,750; street maintenance, $29,120.

NEW PRISON AIDE—Roland Wood, 45, today was named superintendent of the California Rehabilitation Center, a new narcotics prison-hospital to be located temporarily at Chino. Execution Date Bill Is Signed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Persons sentenced to death will be executed the day after a reprieve or stay expires under a bill signed into law by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

A court now sets a new execution date after the reprieve runs out.

Brown, who signed the measure by Sen. John Begovich (D-Jackson) yesterday, said it will eliminate unintended delays.

The bill also requires courts to send the governor a transcript of the trial in all cases resulting in a death sentence.

Another bill signed by Brown would require each person under the death sentence to be examined by three psychiatrists whose findings would be reported to the governor 20 days before the execution date.

The Aerospace Industries Association has predicted there will be 100,000 business, pleasure and utility planes in operation in the United States by 1970.

CONFUSION, DELAY

Sausalito Council Debates Marinship

The Marinship master plan was juggled painfully for 95 minutes by the Sausalito City Council last night and then put over to further meetings.

In the confused many-sided debate on E. A. Lando's application for a use permit to expand his heavy industrial installations, the council first denied the permit—and then after much talk rescinded the denial.

It specified at the request of Lando's attorney, Arthur Halley, that the record show the application is still alive and may get further hearing without prejudice.

Lando had a stenotypist taking down all the talk about his appeal from the city planning commission's rejection of his application.

On motion of Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., the entire Marinship Master Plan was referred back to the planning commission. Ehrlich forecast it might take four months to revise the much-discussed plan.

Mayor Ehrlich scheduled a lunch today with City Manager Charles A. Brown, city engineer John L. Hunter, city planning chairman Paul Micou and others to discuss the whole Marinship problem.

The feeling of the council was to rule out consideration of the proposed north-south road in the plan.

A request by Heath Land Co. for a variance to permit more than one building on a lot was continued to Aug. 8. The firm plans to build 90 apartment units in Marinship.

In other actions the Sausali to council:

1. Adopted a resolution boosting city pay scales an average of five per cent and amending civil service regulations to give employes three weeks' vacation after 10 years service.
3. Established a tax rate of $1.25, same as last year.
3. Decided for the council committee to meet with interested persons July 24 on a Humboldt Avenue survey and a request to form a channel maintenance district.
4. Named, via appointment by Ehrlich, Mrs. Robert Meyer to the recreation commission.

Novato Auditor Gets Probation In Drunk Charge

Novato auditor Lincoln Ross, 46, got off without a jail sentence yesterday for his second drunken driving offense.

A second drunken driving conviction means automatic jail sentence, and Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court was all set to impose five days. But the judge relented before the pleas of attorney Robert D. Carrow of Novato and gave Ross 12 months probation, $263 fine and restricted driving for 90 days.

Ross escaped a jail sentence by the legal maneuver of having his prior drunken driving offense "stricken from the record." The prior offense occurred in January of 1959.

Ross, who lives at 15 Summers Avenue, was caught on Novato Boulevard last May 20.

Brown Signs Anti-Trust Action Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown today signed a series of bills strengthening the attorney general's hand in anti-trust actions.

The bills, by Assemblyman Edwin Z'berg (D-Sacramento) include measures which:

Empower the attorney general to file suit in behalf of political subdivisions without seeking power of attorney in advance.

Grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses in any anti-trust suit.

Ban sales agreements in which the purchaser agrees not to handle goods of a competitor.

County To Move Against Barricade

The Marin County counsel's office will move against Francis M. Gelardi to force him to remove a barrier which the Tamalpais Valley Fire District claims is blocking fire protection to six homes on Wellesley Avenue.

Raymond Massagli, fire protection district president, said today Deputy County Counsel Robert Smallwood has agreed to draw up a petition for a court injunction against Gelardi.

Massagli said the dispute was thrown into the county's lap after the district gave up in its attempt to reach an accord with Gelardi.

"We sent him a letter he refused to agree to. Then he sent us a letter we could not accept," Massagli said.

Gelardi denies there is a barricade across Wellesley Avenue. He says he has not denied use of his property by the Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Fire Department. He contends fire trucks can go around the barricade to reach the only two homes below his property which are within the Tamalpais Valley District.

But Fire Chief Herbert Owen asserts he cannot detour around Gelardi's barricade without endangering expensive fire equipment. Owen insists there are six homes being cut off by Gelardi's blockade.

State Water Needs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State Department of Water Resources estimates that half of California's water needs are served by ground water pumpings.

Four Tool Sheds Broken Into

Four tool sheds at the construction site of the Catholic Nazareth Home on Nova Albion Way near Terra Linda High School were broken into over the weekend.

San Rafael police yesterday said no estimate or description of what was taken had yet been made. They said locks on each of the sheds were broken, but no vandalism was apparent.

The report was made Monday evening by construction worker Maurice Michl of 70 Clausing Court, Novato.

Highway Requests Flying South

A 30-plane "task force" bearing requests of Marin and eight other counties for state highway funds is to fly south July 26 under sponsorship of the Redwood Empire Assn. to attend a July 27 State Highway Commission meeting in San Diego.

But Marin County Supervisors are not expected to take part because they are likely to be occupied with final hearings as a board ofequalization dealing with property-owners' appeals from county assessments.

Supervisors William Gnoss and George Ludy had expected to join the group as it works its way down from Grants Pass, picking up private planes at Crescent City, Eureka, Ukiah and Santa Rosa. But when the matter was discussed at a board meeting Monday it appeared neither could get away.

The supervisors drew up a list of recommendations recently naming five desired highway improvements within Marin County and asking that plans be drawn on three route adoptions authorized by the state legislature.

The first group included: Initial phase of an interchange at Highway 101 and Black Point Cutoff, first phase of interchange at Pacheco Creek and San Jose Boulevard, expansion of freeway between San Quentin Wye and Miller Creek Road, improvement of Tiburon Boulevard to a four-lane divided highway, and expansion of freeway from Nicasio to north of Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Plans were asked for freeway extension from San Rafael-Richmond Bridge to Point Reyes vicinity, from near Nicasio to Novato and from Manzanita to near Point Reyes.

Mill Valley Boy Wins Accordion Festival

Sixteen-year-old John Pollock of Mill Valley won a state title in the California Accordion Festival in San Jose last weekend.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pollock of 175 Val Vista Road, is a pupil of Maggiolo Accordion Studio in San Rafael.

SHE COULDN'T AFFORD RENT

When this expectant mother pigeon started scouting around for a place to nest—an open window and overstuffed chair looked good to her—although she couldn't read the sign which said, "For Rent." The manager of the apartment house in Detroit found the nesting bird when he planned to redecorate. He promised to find her a good home. (AP Wirephoto)

Tunisians Blockade Naval Base

BIZERTE, Tunisia (AP)—Tunisian troops manned a token land blockade around the big Bizerte naval base today in support of President Habib Bourguiba's demand that France give up the base. Civilian traffic flowed in and out of the base but French military forces and vehicles stayed inside.

In a companion move to secure a piece of the oil-rich Sahara for Tunisia, "volunteers of death" some 500 miles south of Tunis were reported on the march to plant the Tunisian flag at Marker 233, near the rich Edjele oil field being developed by France.

DESERT POST

The French have a desert post at the marker point and say it is 25 miles outside Tunisian territory. Bourguiba this week claimed the area for Tunisia.

The troops ringing the Bizerte base kept a close check on all traffic and only three French military vehicles attempted to pass through the blockade in the morning, apparently as a test. The three were halted and turned back.

MIGHT USE FORCE

There was an unconfirmed report that the French government had told Bourguiba it would meet force with force if the Tunisians tried to oust the base garrison forcibly.

The base and its garrison estimated at 5,000 are supplied mainly by sea, and there was no word of any attempt to block the channel leading from the Mediterranean. However, unauthorized persons were not allowed to go to vantage points overlooking the harbor entrance.

AFTER 6 MONTHS

Kennedy, Congress Honeymoon Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee, enlarged to "protect" President John F. Kennedy's legislative ship of state, played the role of pirate today as the new administration came to the end of its first six months in office.

If the president is chagrined about his deteriorating relations with Capitol Hill, he can lay much of the blame on the doorstep of the committee he helped reorganize after taking office six months ago.

It dealt him a telling blow yesterday by shelving, probably for keeps as far as 1961 is concerned, a school aid bill ranked among the top five Kennedy legislative proposals.

The committee's action was by a vote of 8 to 7. It affected not only the president's public school proposal but other bills for financial aid to nonpublic schools and for loans and scholarships for college students.

The president took an active, though not open, part in increasing the size of the rules committee early this year in a move designed to break the control of a conservative coalition. His program was supposed to have an 8-7 edge in the committee which controls the flow of legislation to the House floor. But the so-called "packing" failed to take into consideration religious as well as political undercurrents which entered into the school controversy.

The effect of the committee's action is that two of the president's "big five" bills won't be acted on at this session of Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee earlier had decided to put off until next year action on a health insurance plan tied to the Social Security program.

Despite lack of progress on those two measures, the president's batting average on major legislation was above par, as presidential batting averages have gone in recent years, at the end of his first six months.

On the statute books was Kennedy-supported legislation dealing with unemployment compensation, aid for depressed areas, higher minimum wages, broadened Social Security benefits, more federal judgeships, interstate highway construction, housing and extension of Korean War taxes.

Ford Joins GM In Blasting Demands Of Auto Workers

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has taken the offense along with General Motors Corp. in attacking the contract bargaining goals of the United Auto Workers as inflationary and dangerous to the nation's economy.

Ford estimated it would cost about 500 million dollars over the next two years to adopt just part of the UAW's proposals.

The strongest company statement since bargaining began in the auto industry three weeks ago came last night from Ford's vice president for labor relations, Malcolm L. Denise.

Denise accused the union of using a "combination of discredited theory, opportunistic techniques, and extravagant proposals." He said these represented "a clear sign of danger to the economy of the nation." Denise figured the union demands would increase hourly labor costs more than $1.

Santa Cruz Mountains Fire Perils Air Station

SAN JOSE (AP) — About 350 men—including Air Force personnel—battled a roaring brush and timber fire that threatened an Air Force radar station in the Santa Cruz Mountains today.

The fire that started at the foot of Mt. Umunhum last night had covered 160 acres by morning and fire fighters reported it was spreading rapidly in the direction of Almaden Air Force Station atop the mountain.

A spokesman for the State Division of Forestry said flames were shooting as high as 150 feet in the heavy brush and timber area. The fire is centered about 15 miles south of San Jose.

Residents of Aldercroft Heights about two miles from the blaze were warned to be ready to evacuate at any time, but forestry officials said the warning was merely precautionary.

They said the Aldercroft Heights residential area was in no immediate danger and would only be threatened if the wind changed.

"We're fighting now to keep it away from the radar station," the forestry spokesman said.

Planes dropped fire retardents on the fire last night but failed to check it. Bombing resumed at daylight.

The million-dollar Kings River timber and brush fire east of Fresno is expected to be contained by tomorrow morning, seven days after its start.

Fire fighters yesterday established strong lines on three sides of the blaze, Sierra National Forest officials reported.

The fourth side burned to the edge of a cliff where flaming debris tumbled down the steep south slope of Rodgers Ridge.

Fire bosses said they had about 20 miles of line around the blaze but about six miles remained open, mostly on top of the ridge.

Here's the rough cost estimate of the Rodgers Ridge fire by Sierra National Forest Supervisor Walter Puhn, with the figures still growing.

Timber loss, $360,000; fire fighting costs, $520,000; watershed destruction, $16,500; damage to roads and trails, $5,000.

The blaze was held to about 17,000 acres by the 2,300 men.

Mill Valley Meeting On Swim Problem

The Mill Valley City Council will be swimming in swimming problems tonight.

Residents of the Cascade and Lowell areas are expected to attend the council meeting at 8 p.m. to protest anew against the use of Cascade Reservoir as a swimming hole.

The council also will consider the request of Charles Einstein, San Francisco writer of 11 Hollyhock Court, to use a portion of the area intended for widening of Camino Alto to build a swimming pool.

City Engineer Stanley Bala says the city needs the area for widening of the thoroughfare.

The council will take up a recommendation by Police Chief Dan Terzich that bicycles be licensed at $1 a bike for the first year, 50 cents thereafter.

Also on the agenda is a request by Dr. Charles R. Fielder for abandonment of a portion of the right of way of Corte Madera Avenue.

There will be first reading of a proposed ordinance amendment on signs. City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is expected to be heard on this. The law now bans more than four signs per building. The council is considering permitting more than this number where more than four business firms occupy a structure.

City Attorney Jordan also is expected to be heard on a proposed ordinance amendment to provide for monthly sewer service charges to be collected by the county.

Ring, Watch Worth $1,600 Missing

A diamond ring and a wrist watch, valued at $1,600, is missing from a Sleepy Hollow home.

James J. Weiss of 1121 Butterfield Road told sheriff's deputies the theft must have occurred while the family was away Sunday. They noticed the items gone from a counter in the kitchen Monday morning.

VFW Favors Buildup Of U.S. Forces

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Delegates to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Department of California last night heard the VFW's national commander, Ted Connell say the organization favors an immediate buildup of the nation's armed forces.

"Tomorrow may be too late," said Connell.

The commander told the veterans that calling out the National Guard might convince the Soviet Union that the West does not intend to abandon Berlin.

"Calling out the National Guard would be a drastic reply to Nikita Khrushchev's threats against Berlin," he said. "However, if that's what it takes to make him realize that the United States won't back down there, we are for it."

Connell said public thinking —"and perhaps national defense policy"—has concentrated too heavily on nuclear weapons at the expense of conventional forces.

Britons Tightening Belts For Crisis

LONDON (UPI)—Britons started tightening their belts today in anticipation of a series of government moves designed to snap the nation out of a worsening economic crisis.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons last nigh he would "not be afraid to ask for necessary burdens and disciplines."

There was general belief that the government would boost sales taxes on cigarettes, whisky and beer and general consumer goods and proclaim sweeping measures to cut industrial costs.

Financial circles spoke of the possibility that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government might even impose wartime-type wage freezes.

Macmillan admitted last week that he was "worried" about Britain's economic conditions because of lagging exports and the slow growth of industrial productivity.

The laborite benches bombarded the Conservative spokesmen with catcalls in the house yesterday and Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell delivered a blistering attack on Macmillan's economic policies.

But in a vote on a laborite motion of censure, the conservatives won as expected in balloting along straight party lines—329 to 243.

School's Out . . .

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — The pent-up energy of a young boy was released at the end of the school year when he tore up his notebook and scattered the papers on lawns near his school. City detectives found the boy's name on one of the scraps and made him clean up the entire mess.

President Backs Bowles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy today declared his "complete confidence" in Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles, and said he wanted Bowles to remain in his present job.

After a flurry of reports last weekend that Bowles would be asked to resign or take a new assignment, Kennedy said he never had asked the undersecretary to resign and that Bowles had not offered his resignation.

Kennedy said he would not hesitate to ask Bowles to take another assignment if he felt the undersecretary would be more useful elsewhere.

Shell Says He Will Run For Governor

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Joseph C. Shell, minority leader in the State Assembly today announced his candidacy for governor in 1962 on the Republican ticket.

Shell, 43, said he decided to run in the belief that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the party's first choice for governor, can be elected president in 1964.

Shell, a wealthy Los Angeles oilman, lost his seat in the assembly when it was eliminated in recent reapportionment.

He was first elected to the assembly in 1953, and became minority leader in 1959.

"I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the spring primary," Shell stated. "I have reached this decision after much thought about the future welfare of the citizens of California — whether they be independents or affiliated with a political party."

Shell is a former Navy flier and captain of University of Southern California's 1939 Rose Bowl football team.

Congress ordered coinage of the ten-cent piece, originally spelled "disme," in 1792.

Periled Home Buyers Will Appeal To JFK

NAPA (AP)—President John F. Kennedy will be asked to intervene in behalf of hundreds of San Francisco Bay Area home buyers facing eviction because a mortgage firm went bankrupt, it was reported.

About 200 residents of Rancho del Mar tract near Napa, who insist they have made their payments, were told their homes will be auctioned Friday.

Fifty-seven home buyers in three tracts near Pinole, faced with eviction threats, held an emergency meeting last night.

The Pinole residents said they had employed three attorneys and would ask the president to intervene.

Also menaced were 1,500 home buyers in the Country Club Crest subdivision near Vallejo. However, they had not been informed of an auction date.

In all cases the homes apparently were bought by purchase agreement which is similar to buying an automobile in that the purchaser doesn't get his title until he makes his final payment.

State real estate officials said the purchase agreement is the customary method of financing a home where no down payment, or almost none, is demanded.

They said deeds to homes bought by purchase agreement are negotiable and can float freely through the financial market.

The Napa homes, built by LeMount Construction Co., were sold for an average of $12,600 on 20-year contracts.

This allows 20 years in which the deeds can be bought, sold or refinanced.

But if a firm buying the deeds goes bankrupt, the original home owner can be threatened with eviction by that firm's creditors.

The Mason Mortgage & Investment Co., with offices in Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., and Florida, which held sales contracts on LeMount-built homes, filed for bankruptcy last winter in Washington.

Mill Valley Commuter Club Meetings Off

There was no meeting of the Mill Valley Commuters Club last night because of lack of a quorum, and there won't be any more meetings, barring an emergency, until Sept. 19, Edward J. Boessenecker, president, said today.

"It isn't that we don't still have problems in the summer. We just can't get enough members to have a good meeting," he said.

Copies Of Marin Budget Distributed

Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell distributed copies of the preliminary county budget for 1961-62 to Marin County supervisors yesterday and they were made available to the public today.

Supervisors' final budget hearings are scheduled to start at 9 a.m., Aug. 10.

Administrator Alan Bruce pointed out that in compiling the 232-page book it was necessary to use an estimated increase of 7-8 per cent in assessed value, whereas later the assessor's roll disclosed an actual overall county increase of 10.8 per cent.

This would on the face of it suggest a lower tax rate than $2.23 countywide but other things have also happened, such as announcement of an undoubtedly higher welfare budget because of the many welfare bills just passed by the legislature. So Bruce thought it would all average off, roughly.

Rail Control Seen Cutting Track Use

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Southern Pacific told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing yesterday its control of Western Pacific would make possible California and Nevada consolidations retiring 126.4 miles of track.

Southern Pacific's basic aim is that railroads must combine track and plant operations for economies to compete effectively against trucks.

ICC Examiner Paul C. Albus is hearing rival applications by Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe to acquire stock control of Western Pacific.

Santa Fe contends the merging of Southern Pacific and Western Pacific would establish SP monopoly in San Francisco-Utah gateway operations but a Santa Fe-Western Pacific combine would increase rail competition in the West.

In addition to the track retirement projects, Richard D. Spence, SP Sacramento division superintendent, and Frank E. Russell, assistant general superintendent for engineering, described plans for consolidating tracks, shops and terminal operations in Sacramento.

Another consolidation project called for Southern Pacific freight routing over Western Pacific tracks between Weso and Flanigan in Nevada. This could save 54 miles and three hours running time for eastbound SP freights carrying Pacific Northwest forest products to the Utah gateway. Westbound freights would save two hours running time.

Inmate Fire Fighters

One-hundred trained firefighters were sent from San Quentin prison early today to help battle a fire in Tahoe National Forest, about 10 miles northwest of Truckee, Nevada County, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

Bolinas, Stinson Plans Given To Supervisors

Planning director Mary Summers gave Marin County supervisors copies of the new Bolinas-Stinson Beach Master Plan yesterday, with assurance that none of the residents seems dissatisfied with how the scheme came out after numerous consultations.

Mrs. Summers gave the supervisors a brief summary before the board adopted a resolution, subject to review by county counsel, approving the plan.

She said the work was authorized two years ago following requests from the area. Keynote of the plan, she said, is to try to preserve natural assets while developing an economic basis which probably would rest on tourists since fewer than half the homes are permanently occupied and permanent population is only around 900.

"We didn't follow your recommendation about the Shoreline Highway being in the state freeway system," said Mrs. Summers.

The plan indicates the present highway route through Stinson Beach pending further study by officials concerned.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed Norma Griffiths a key punch operator for the data processing bureau at $305 monthly.
2. Agreed with Supervisor J. Walter Blair that "Mill Valley streets are crooked by nature" and despite protests of 35, on ground of impaired visibility at a curve, granted adjustment to Mrs. E. C. Broman to build a home within 10 feet of a front property line on Stadium Way north of Morning Sun Avenue.
3. Set for hearing 2 p.m. Aug. 15 a Marinwood Master Plan amendment to settle a long-debated issue of church site northeast of Lucas Valley Road.
4. Awarded to Bank of America four school bond issues—Mill Valley $550,000 and $5,000, San Anselmo, $370,000 and $36,000.
5. Agreed to sit all day today as a board of equalization which should virtually catch up with filings and allow only morning hearings hereafter.

Forestry Chief Says Mobile Radios Helped Save Lives

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Mobile radios may have saved residents of two small California towns burned out in a recent wildlands fire, State Forester F. H. Raymond told forestry communications experts yesterday.

Other communications were destroyed by fires at Ahwahnee and Nipinnawasee, Madera County.

The towns "blew up" because of especially bad fire conditions, and all telephone communications lines were wiped out.

"Only a few radios, available in fire trucks, civil defense trucks and sheriffs' cars, carried the messages which may well have saved the lives of countless numbers of people," Raymond said.

Red Cross Disaster Chairman Named

Charles D. Helbig of 40 Corte Amado, Greenbrae, is the new disaster committee chairman for the Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross, it was announced today.

He succeeds Col. Chester I. Dennis (Army, ret.) of Mill Valley.

Helbig lived in San Francisco and Atherton before moving to Marin County a year and a half ago.

4 Chicago Boys Quizzed For Slaying

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police questioned four white youths today about the shooting death of a Negro high school student, an incident blamed for a week of sporadic violence by bands of Negro teen-ager seeking revenge.

The youths were arrested at the same southwest side corner where Matthew Tolbert Jr., 17, was killed a week ago. They were picked up with other youths in a police drive against suspected troublemakers Monday.

Disorderly conduct charges against the four were dropped yesterday, and they were released into police custody.

Inflamed by a rumor that Tolbert was killed by a white gang called the Latin Counts, groups of Negro youths roamed the Lawndale district around Harrison High School. About two dozen persons, mostly white have been beaten during the past week. A 17-year-old knifing victim said he was attacked by three Negroes.

Police discounted the rumors. But Tolbert's slaying remained unsolved.

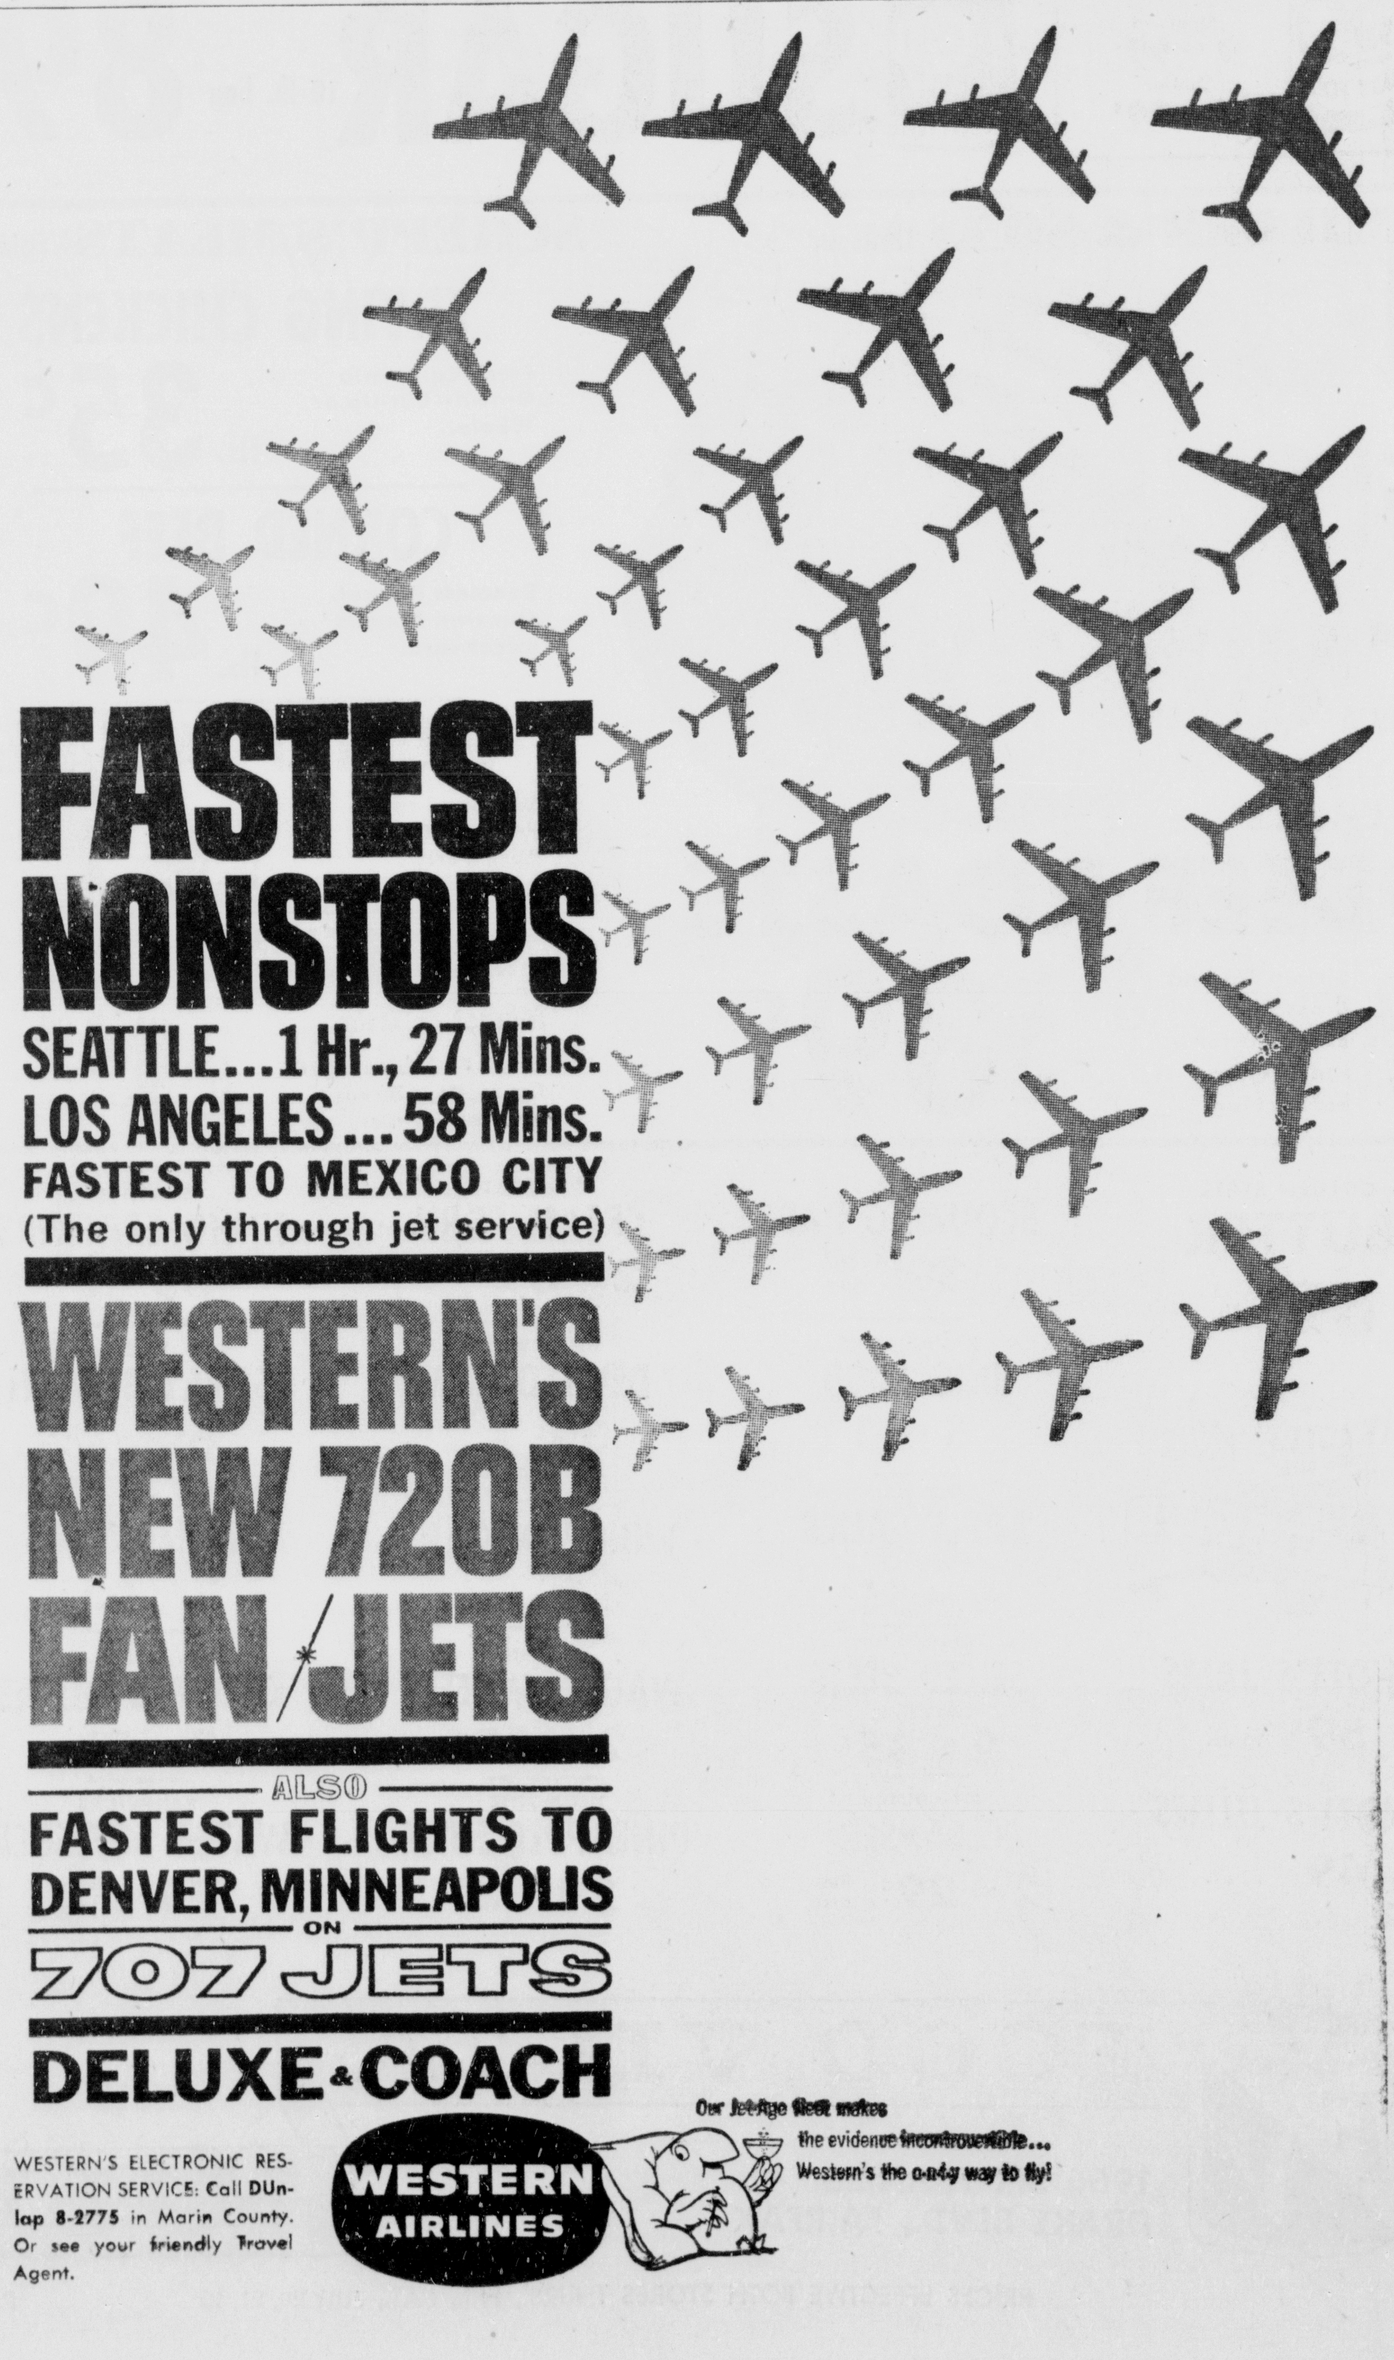

Last Senior Assn. Meeting In Hub

The Marin Senior Assn. will hold its meeting in Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo, for the last time at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Beginning Aug. 12 the seniors will meet in Adeline Kent School, Kentfield, on the second and fourth Saturdays of the month from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The association had met in Cook School for seven years free of charge, but the San Anselmo School District board in June decided to charge $10 per hour ($2.50 an hour until September). A new policy permits free use of school facilities only to organizations made up wholly of San Anselmans. The Senior Assn. is county-wide.

Marin Planners' Zoning Hearing

The Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing Monday to consider an amendment to the Marin County zoning ordinance changing the zoning of 24,000 square feet of land off of Highway 101 next to the Corte Madera city limits.

The land may be rezoned from a commercial highway zone to light industrial district to be used as a lumber storage yard and shed.

The item will be No. 16 on an agenda of approximately 30 items, the first to be taken up at 9 a.m. The session will be held at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

A Recruit No More

Marine Pvt. James D. Acheson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Acheson of 11 Rocca Drive, Fairfax, has graduated from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

Novatan Puts Out Blaze At Home

Donald E. Cuneo, 31, awoke about 4 a.m. yesterday to find his home at 491 Wilson Avenue, Novato, filled with smoke and flames crackling in the living room.

He ran outside, broke a window with his arm and shoved in a garden hose to extinguish the flames. When the blaze was out, Cuneo called firemen who rid the house of smoke then went to Novato Hospital for treatment of a cut on his right arm.

Another house fire Monday at 852 Cypress Street, Novato, charred floors. W. Corniells of the Twin Oaks Floor Co., Novato, was applying finish to the floor of the vacant house when a pilot light apparently ignited fumes.

The extensive tundra of the Arctic region supports some 400 species of flowering plants and ferns. These in turn feed an abundant animal life.

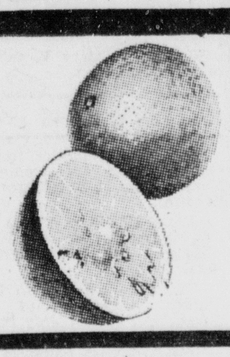

Hamilton Base Unit Airlifting Hospital

The 349th Troop Carrier Wing, a reserve unit stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, will airlift the entire Bay Area 631st Air Force Reserve Hospital to Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois for two weeks of active duty training.

The training period is from July 30 to Aug. 13. A total of 54 officers and 254 airmen will be transported in 12 C-119 flying boxcars to Chanute.

Kent Lake Shooting Case Gets Hearing

Donald Cox, 18, of San Anselmo related today how a complete stranger had fired a .22 caliber pistol over his head at Kent Lake last June 23.

Cox testified before Judge Joseph G. Wilson at a preliminary hearing for Stanley Richard Bech, 24, a San Francisco cook.

Bech, represented by San Francisco attorney George Finneggan, contends he fired the warning shots in self-defense because a gang of Marin youths attacked him.

Cox told the judge he and his friends had gone to the lake for a swim when a stranger appeared and "wanted to fight." The stranger turned out to be a friend of Bech, said Cox. Then Bech showed up, and without a word fired over their heads, Cox testified.

When Melvin J. Muzinich, patrolman for the Marin Municipal Water District, drove up in his truck, Bech dropped his gun behind him, Cox said he and his friends then beat up Bech. Cox said he hit Bech on the side of his face and knocked him down, then hit him several more times.

Another youth had a club as he went toward Bech, Cox testified.

Judge Wilson was to decide whether there is enough evidence to hold Bech to answer on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

KENNEDY

—limited or otherwise—to call up National Guard and reserve units. He was asked about this but refused to disclose what is being planned.

Kennedy's sternly-worded statement on Berlin again warned the Soviet Union it was risking war over Berlin.

And again, Kennedy made it plain, though not in so many words, that this country is ready to fight if need be, to keep West Berlin from Communist engulfment.

"We intend to honor our commitments," he said.

The president said that what the administration will propose in the way of taxes for deficit financing to pay for any boost in military strength will be disclosed with announcement of the program.

In tone of voice as well as in words, Kennedy was tough without shaking any figurative fist.

He said that Russia's June 4 proposal to alter the status of Berlin, and to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany as a possible contingency "is a document which speaks of peace but threatens to disturb it."

The real intent, he said, is to absorb East Berlin into the so-called German Democratic Republic while West Berlin would be called a "free city" but would lose the protection of the West and "become subject to the will of a totalitarian regime."

Other points touched on were:

Montevideo — The chief executive said the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference opening Aug. 5 in Uruguay is "the most important international gathering since the beginning of this administration" because the future of freedom in this hemisphere largely depends on its outcome.

School Aid—Kennedy voiced a hope that House members will take steps to force school aid legislation onto the floor for a vote before this session of Congress shuts down. The House Rules Committee all but buried school legislation yesterday.

Bowles — Kennedy said Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles "has my complete confidence" and that he intends to keep Bowles on until the end of his administration. Reports circulated widely in the last few days that Bowles was on his way out.

Freedom Riders — Kennedy said "everyone who travels should enjoy the full constitutional protection given to them by the law and the Constitution." He added that in his judgment there is no question of the legal right of Freedom Riders.

National Economy—Kennedy announced that preliminary estimates put the value of the nation's production of goods and services at an annual rate of 515 billion dollars in the second quarter of the year. He said this was a sharp increase of 14 billion dollars over the first quarter and reversed three consecutive quarters of decline. But in spite of this bright picture, Kennedy said, unemployment still is a serious problem, with five million people out of work and another million working part time.

Kennedy touched only briefly on foreign affairs when asked for an appraisal of his first six months in office—a period ending today.

He did remark, however, that in his inaugural address he said that news would be getting worse before it got better. And probably, he said, Premier Khrushchev would agree with that.

Fairfax School Budget Approved

The Fairfax School District Board last night approved publication of a 1961-62 budget of $366,832.

The figure was reduced by $1,540 from the tentative budget approved July 11 by the board. Supt. Homer L. Sisk said this was due to a lesser request than expected for Fairfax's share of education of mentally retarded children, which is handled on a county-wide basis.

Sisk estimated that the total tax rate with this budget would be $2.46 per $100 assessed valuation. This would include $1.83 general purpose tax and override taxes estimated at 63 cents.

Hub Council, Fire Board Meeting Off

A meeting of the San Anselmo City Council and the Sleepy Hollow Fire District board, scheduled last night, was cancelled because some of the district board members were unable to attend.

Annual renewal of the contract for fire protection was to have been discussed. No new date for a meeting was set.

Urgent Blood Appeal For Marin Boy, 7

An urgent appeal for blood for 7-year-old Richard Hill of San Rafael was issued today by the new Marin Blood Center at 506 Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Hill of 30 Center Street, has had nearly 50 transfusions. Most of these were as outpatient of San Rafael General Hospital.

Mrs. Hill explained that Richard became ill two years ago last January with aplastic anemia, having to do with failure of the bone marrow to produce a necessary number of red blood cells.

"Blood transfusions are what keep him going," said Mrs. Hill.

Blood procurement days are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., the center being open the other two week days for appointments and information. Blood may be credited to anyone the donor may name throughout the United States.

Young GOP Hears 'What's Ahead'

Mrs. Lucille Hosmer, president of the California State Federation of Republican Women, last night spoke on "What's Ahead?" to about 50 members of the Young Republicans of Marin at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael.

She discussed the history of the Republican party and its relation to the Declaration of Independence and Bill of Rights. Mrs. Hosmer also spoke about ways to combat "bureaucratic" bills and noted that 12,000 bills had been introduced in the House and 1,900 in the Senate this year.

It Was $80 Million —On Typewriter

Through someone's error in typing, the Independent-Journal yesterday greatly inflated the value of the proposed Reedland Heights development in Larkspur.

A story announcing the project would be discussed at tonight's Larkspur City Council meeting referred to it as an $83,200,000 development.

The figure should have been $3,200,000.

Smith College graduate, at Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 20, 1942. Their children are Lola, 17, who will enter Stanford University next fall; Peter Jr., 13, and Trudie, 10.

The Behrs came to California after his Navy service, initially settling in Alamo, Contra Costa County, while Behr embarked on the practice of law in San Francisco.

Mrs. Helen Kerr of Sausalito, spokesman for the "Recall Blair Committee," said circulation of petitions for Blair's recall will start this weekend. When sufficient signatures are obtained on them, petitions will be circulated to put Behr's name on the ballot, she said.

Freak Auto Crash In Mill Valley

Joseph W. Lewis, 32, with a driver's license giving addresses in both Paramount and Lynwood, Calif., crashed his Detroit compact bus through 30 feet of fence and landed in heavy brush down an embankment on Molino Avenue in Mill Valley early today, police reported.

Police said that in the freak crash one license plate was left hanging on a tree.

Lewis was taken to Marin General Hospital, where he was reported in satisfactory condition with multiple bruises and an injured back.

Divorcee's Death Still A Mystery

The cause of death of Fairfax divorcee Joan Zerbe, 22, may remain a mystery until Friday when a toxicologist's report is expected to be completed.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said nothing new has been discovered in the baffling death of the attractive brunette. Her nude body was found in her bathtub at 114 Wood Lane, Fairfax, Sunday night.

Mrs. Zerbe's boy friend, Richard Knutson, was still held today in Daly City in connection with a marijuana investigation. Knutson is a musician with Dick Contino's trio in the Say When night club in Daly City. He had come with Mrs. Zerbe when she put down a deposit on the Fairfax apartment a week before. She had just moved in a day before her death.

Refugee Family Will Buy Home

A Dutch refugee family of nine that settled in Marin County a year ago is no longer in danger of having no home here.

The Johannes B. Ruys family was brought to the United States under a refugee resettlement program by the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Elmer L. Nielsen, former chairman of the church board of deacons, reports that the family has decided to purchase a home in Santa Venetia. The lease on the house they were renting in San Anselmo had expired, and the owner wanted occupancy by today. He has now given them a month's extension until they move into their new home.

Increase Proposed In Parking Fines

The Sausalito City Council last night introduced an ordinance to increase parking meter fines to $2 from the present $1. Second reading will be Aug. 8.

City Manager Charles A. Brown said the increased revenue—an expected $440 a month—could provide enough to hire an additional policeman.

OBITUARIES

Joseph M. Sawaya Dies At 55

Joseph M. Sawaya, 55, of San Anselmo, owner of the Beauty Custom Cabinet Works at 624 Lindaro Street, San Rafael, died last evening in a local hospital after five days illness.

Sawaya resided at 16 Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo. He had been a Marin resident for 20 years. He was born in Diamondville, Wyo.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, San Rafael Lodge of Elks, and the Holy Family Retreat Assn.

He leaves his wife, Patricia; two daughters, Sister Mary Paul Andrew (SNJM) and Patricia Ann Sawaya of San Anselmo; a brother and two sisters, James Sawaya of San Francisco; Mrs. Mike Sliman of Emmett, Ida., and Mrs. Roland Oswald of Sunnyvale.

The Rosary will be recited for Sawaya at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Anselm's Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The family asks that tributes be contributions to the Heart Assn.

PHILLIP HILLEBRAND

Funeral services for Phillip H. Hillebrand, 81, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Hillebrand, a 60-year resident of Marin County, died of a heart attack Monday at his home at 14 Stevens Place, San Rafael. He was a retired engineer of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael, where he worked for 26 years. He retired 20 years ago.

Hillebrand was past master of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons. He was also past high priest of Royal Arch Masons, San Rafael Chapter 102.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Hillebrand of the family home, and a brother, Percival E. Hillebrand, and sister, Mrs. Edna Batchelder, of Marysville.

Services will be under auspices of the Marin Lodge of Masons. Inurnment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

DARRELL KENNEDY

Funeral services for Darrell E. Kennedy, 26, San Rafael electrician, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Kennedy was found dead of a shotgun blast yesterday in his home at 504 D Street. Deputy Coroner Harry M. Williams said today he had certified the death as self-inflicted.

Kennedy, a San Rafael native, was a member of Local 551, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

He is survived by his wife, Dulcie L.; a stepdaughter, Kathleen Knauss; his father, Edward Kennedy of San Rafael, and a sister, Mrs. Lorraine Hoy of Novato.

Inurnment will be private.

BETH MASTERS

Private inurnment was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery for Beth Masters of San Francisco.

Miss Masters, 47, daughter of Mrs. Marcia Masters of San Francisco, died in Mill Valley Monday night from exhaust fumes in her car.

She was a native of Connecticut, and had resided in California for 40 years. She was a member of San Francisco Wind Ensemble and a draftsman at Skidmore, Owing and Merrill, an architectural firm in San Francisco.

She is survived by her mother; her father, George W. Banta, and a brother, Marty Masters of Encino, Los Angeles County.

Miller Key Man In Giants' Hopes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Little Stu Miller is the big guy on the Giants' pitching staff.

And if the San Franciscans are to make a showing on their 15-game road trip, the 5-foot-11, 165-pound iron man with the feather soft flutterball will have to be right.

The Giants open against St. Louis tonight and after another one here Thursday night, it'll be four in Cincinnati against the National League leaders, then Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

Unless Giant starters start finishing or San Francisco comes up with another reliever, Manager Al Dark will have to keep yelling "Miller."

Miller hasn't complained, but consider:

The wind-blown right-hander—he's the only pitcher to have a balk charged against him for being blown off Candlestick's mound—has worked 62⅔ innings this season.

He has appeared in 35 games.

He has yielded 18 earned runs and has an even average of 2.

Of late the work really has been piling up.

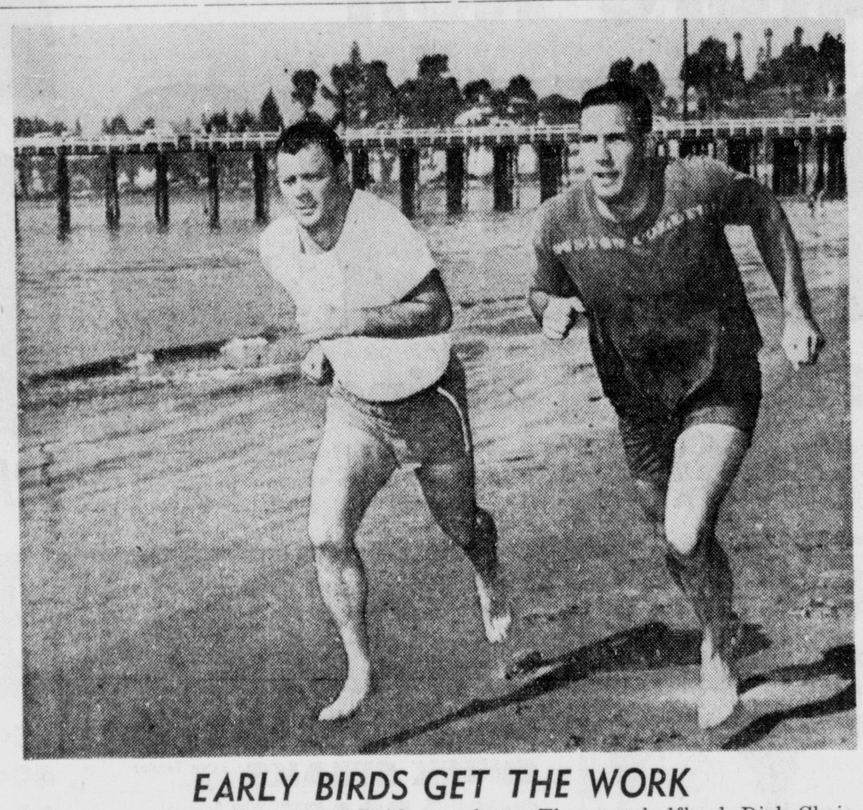

During the last home stand, Miller appeared on July 13-14-15-16-17, notching his seventh win against Pittsburgh on the 13th.

When he needed to get out five men in the July 11 All-Star game at San Francisco, he nailed four on strikes and went home the game's winner.

As for the rest of his lineup, Dark said he will rely primarily on Orlando Cepeda at first, Joey Amalfitano at second, Jose Pagan at short, Jim Davenport at third, Harvey Kuenn in left field, Willie Mays in center and Felipe Alou in right, with Ed Bailey catching.

The Giants are 22-16 on the road—not bad. So if Dark can get the rest of his pitchers to perform like Miller the Giants might improve their 25-25 split in games played at Candlestick.

Mike McCormick (8-9) pitches for the Giants tonight. The Cards will go with left-hander Ray Sadecki (7-5).

EARLY BIRDS GET THE WORK

Two members of the Oakland Raiders American Football League team showed up at the Santa Cruz training camp a week in advance of the rest of the squad in hopes of being in top shape. They are halfback Dick Christy (left) and fullback Allen Miller, running on Santa Cruz beach. Other members of the squad will arrive Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

FORMER TAM ATHLETE BIG HIT WITH RAMS

Willie Hector, former all-around star athlete at Tamalpais High School, is making a strong impression as a rookie with the Los Angeles Rams, word from their Redlands training camp revealed today.

A great track and gridiron performer at Tam, Hector is utilizing both talents to impress Ram Coach Bob Waterfield. Hector is a tackle and weighs only 217 pounds. If he makes the squad and plays at 217 he probably would be the smallest tackle in the National Football League.

"He's the class of the linemen we have here at Redlands," says Waterfield. "He could play at tackle, too, with the punch he has."

Hector's punch is generated on the speed of a sprinter. He has been clocked at 9.7 seconds in the 100.

He starred four seasons at University of Pacific following graduation from Tamalpais.

Reds Showing Indications Of Cracking

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Are the Cincinnati Reds beginning to crack? Or were they caught looking ahead to the two-game, showdown series they open tonight against the second place Los Angeles Dodgers.

Whatever the reason, the Reds have lost four of six since the All-Star break and their National League lead is down to 3½ games after last night's 12-8 defeat by Milwaukee.

The Dodgers, idle yesterday, go into Cincinnati with a 6-7 record against the Reds. They've picked southpaw Johnny Podres to face Cincinnati right-hander Bob Purkey in tonight's opener, with Don Drysdale likely to oppose the Reds' ace, Joey Jay, Thursday.

St. Louis swept a twi-night pair from Chicago in the only other N.L. games scheduled yesterday, beating the Cubs 8-3 and 7-5 as Bill White tied Ty Cobb's 49-year-old major league record with 14 hits in two consecutive doubleheaders.

REDS COLLAPSE

The Reds collapsed as Milwaukee ran across four runs in the second inning and five in the third. Lew Burdette (10-6) won it in relief.

Milwaukee had 13 hits off loser Jim O'Toole (8-8) and five relievers, but didn't get an extra base hit until the eighth inning. Ed Mathews closed it out with a solo home run in the ninth.

White tied Cobb's record of 1912 by collecting a home run, two triples, a double and two singles, going 3-for-4 in each game. The Card first baseman was 4-for-5 in each of Monday's games against the Cubs.

The Cardinals came from behind in all four games in their series sweep. Home runs by White and Ken Boyer capped a four-run sixth inning in the opener against loser Glen Hobbie (6-10). White also doubled in a decisive, three-run seventh inning. Reliever Bob Anderson (4-7) was the loser.

Larry Jackson (5-8) and Bob Gibson (7-6) were the winners.

Cobb Laid To Rest At Georgia Birthplace

CORNELIA, Ga. (AP)—Legendary Ty Cobb, whose flashing spikes and thundering bat placed his name many times in baseball's record books, will be buried today.

Private funeral services for the man called baseball's greatest player by many persons will be held in the chapel of McGahee Funeral Home here. Burial will be in the family mausoleum at Royston, his birthplace, 28 miles away.

Cobb died Monday at 74 in Emory University Hospital where he had been confined for several weeks. He had been in the hospital many times for treatment of cancer, diabetes, heart trouble and arthritis.

Cobb's close friends will be active pallbearers at the funeral. They include Harrison Gailey, Cliff Kimzey Jr., Jimmy Freeman and J. Rex Teeslink, all of Cornelia; Dr. Stewart Brown and Bob Greer, both of Royston, and Dr. Prentiss Miller and Clark O'Neill, both of Atlanta.

Honorary pallbearers will include members of the Cobb Educational Foundation, an organization founded by the Georgia Peach, and staff of Cobb Memorial Hospital, which he endowed.

Cobb built the family tomb several years ago after the deaths of his mother and father. A sister also is buried there.

He is survived by a son, James; two daughters, Mrs. Thomas D. McLaren and Mrs. Richard D. Beckworth, all of California, and a brother, John Paul Cobb of Sarasota, Fla.

All except the brother, who suffered a paralytic stroke several years ago and will be unable to attend the funeral, were with Cobb when he died. His first wife, the former Charlie Marion Lombard of Augusta, Ga., from whom he was divorced in 1947, also was present.

Cobb returned to Georgia in 1958 from Atherton, Calif., where he had spent most of his retirement since ending his baseball career in 1928.

HOMETOWN TRIBUTE

Typical of the tributes to the Georgia Peach were new signs erected in Cobb's honor in Royston, proclaiming the little town as the home of baseball's greatest player.

Cobb, who had been living in a small apartment here, left his hospital bed in Atlanta two weeks ago to visit Royston.

"He came down to have his picture made with friends and to see our new signs," said Mayor F. Burt Barnes. "The signs have a picture of Mr. Cobb in his Detroit uniform, coming around third base on his way home."

Hub Loop Leaders Lose To Guascos

Guasco Super Market moved firmly into third place in the San Anselmo Senior Baseball League last night with a 3-2 win over first-ranked Herb's Sports Shops.

Guasco's Gary Goodall struck out 12 Sportsmen and allowed only four hits and three walks in going the full seven-inning distance.

Pat Windrick, also going seven innings, allowed only five hits and five walks and struck out five in taknig the loss, meanwhile doing his best to avert it by getting two singles himself. Lon Gallagher of Guasco got the only extra-base blow, a double.

Tomorrow night Currie Construction, still in contention for the title, meets last place Iacopi Meat Co. The Contractors must win from Iacopi and again from Herb's on the weekend to pull up to a tie and a playoff.

49ers Make Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners will take 16 veterans and 14 rookies to camp at St. Mary's College in Moraga, on July 26, according to coach Red Hickey. The 17 other veterans on the squad, plus seven rookies from the all-star classic in Chicago, will check in Aug. 5.

Best-Ball Meet Winners Listed

Winners in the four flights of the Men's Best-Ball Invitational Tournament played at the Marin Golf and Country Club Sunday were:

First flilght—William Elliott and K. Thompson, 60.

Second flight—Aaron Bloom and Dr. J. Morton, 58.

Third flight — Anthony Voitano and Gen De Vencenzi, and Ed Abramson and Art Schallock, 59, a tie.

Fourth flight—Dr. Irving Schwartz and Dr. Allen Sherman, 59.

Dick Nolan, former University of Maryland gridman, is preparing for his eighth National Football League season. He's a defensive back with the New York Giants.

Doubles Tomorrow In Marin Junior Tennis

With a majority of early round singles action in the record books, the eighth annual Marin County Junior Tennis Tournament moves into doubles competition tomorrow with a heavy schedule at Albert Park in San Rafael.

Then the cream of the county's junior court crop will dive into a dramatic Friday and Saturday schedule that will feature the crowning of champions in all divisions. At stake, besides the glory, are beautiful trophies presented by the Independent-Journal which cosponsors the popular tournament with the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department. In all, 32 trophies will be presented Saturday to winners and runners-up in each division.

Tournament Chairman Joe Rodota predicts a slam-bang windup to the tournament. "Competition has been extremely close this year," Rodota said. "It's about the best we've ever had. Tennis instruction throughout the county has increased so that the brand of play has reached an all-time high here."

Each of the more than 200 entrants, Rodota said, will receive a beautiful certificate of participation.

Here is tomorrow's schedule for the doubles competition:

Falcons Take Tiburon Title

By defeating the Octopi 7-2 Saturday, the Falcons became the champions of the Tiburon Little League.

The Falcons, managed by Joe Murphy and coached by Ed Ryall, were second half winners while the Octopi, manager by Fred Mangtegani and coached by Lee Larimer, won the first half.

Both pitchers went the full game, with Norman Hantzsche, winning pitcher, clobbering a triple and two singles to insure his team's victory. Scott Graham was the losing pitcher.

The Falcons defeated the Seals, managed by Elmer Rieger, on Thursday in a playoff for the second half championship.

The champs will represent Tiburon in the playoff at San Rafael on July 29.

Murphy and Mantegani will now manage the Tiburon All-Star team scheduled to play the Strawberry All Stars Monday at 6 p.m. at Judge Field. Rieger and Robert MacCarthy, Lions manager, will assist.

Jersey Joe Honored

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former world heavyweight boxing champion Jersey Joe Walcott was honored yesterday at a luncheon hosted by promoter Cal Eaton of the Olympic Auditorium.

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT

Yanks In Letdown After Russ Meet

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—The weary United States track team, jolted by an unexpectedly strong West German outfit, was favored to push to a comfortable victory today in the final session of a two-day meet.

But going into the last 10 events, Coach Jim Elliott's position was anything but comfortable.

"I was disappointed in the performances of some of the boys, naturally," said Elliott. "But that's water under the bridge. I talked to the members who were to compete today and explained to them the importance of the meet.

NATURAL LETDOWN

"There are two reasons why we possibly didn't do as well as we expected. One, some of the boys probably suffered a natural letdown after the meet with the Russians. They had been pointing to it so long, they had very little else on their minds.

"The other reason is that some of the boys were affected by the closeness of the Russian and German meets. It is not easy to finish a meet on a Sunday as we did in Russia, get up at 5 a.m. the next day, spend most of the day in a plane and then compete the following day.

"Sometimes a boy isn't affected by it. But others get tired."

The Americans won six of the 10 events yesterday at the Neckar Stadium before a crowd of 40,000.

Frank Budd, the Villanova flash, was the only double winner. He captured the 100 meters in 10.1 and ran the second leg on the winning 400-meter relay team that hit the tape in 39.1.

Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich. won the 110 meter hurdles in 13.8; Henry Wadsworth of Miami captured the pole vault, climbing 15-1; Earl Young of Abilene Christian whipped to a 46.5 decision in the 400 meters and Army Lt. Jay Silvester grabbed the discus throw with a 189-3 toss for the other U.S. victories.

Ex-Cal Lineman To Coach At USC

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mike Giddings, 27, former lineman on the University of California teams in 1953 and 1954, has been signed as an assistant football coach by the University of Southern California.

Giddings compiled an impressive coaching record of 7-2 last year with Glendale College—best in the history of the two-year school—and 11-1 in 1959 as head coach at South Pasadena High School.

Following his graduation in 1955, Giddings played football with the Marine Corps teams at Quantico, Va., and Camp Pendleton.

Ty Fought State, Neighbors, Or Anyone Who Crossed Him

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ty Cobb went home to die in his beloved Georgia — but for 25 years he was an embattled "native" westerner.

And just as he left his stamp of competitive fierceness in the baseball world, he left a deep impression on the residents of California, Nevada and Idaho.

Cobb gave no quarter in baseball—and was the same in the social world. He would fight at the drop of a speck of dust. And his foes included public utilities, his wife, neighbors, the state government or anyone else he figured had crossed him.

The first time I met Cobb was in Twin Falls, Ida., where his son Herschel was the district distributor for Coca Cola, the firm that made Ty a multi-millionaire.

We sat in a room in the old Riverside Hotel there in a bull session with Al Schacht, the famous baseball clown, that lasted until daylight. During the six or eight hours, Schacht applied the "needle" so deeply that by morning Cobb was ready to battle the world. And that he did for the next quarter of a century. His fiery disposition never changed.

Cobb owned a $60,000 home in nearby Atherton, but he claimed his legal residence as Nevada, where he owned a small home. The state of California successfully sued him for something like $50,000 in taxes. But Cobb went to his grave with a counter-suit, still on the books, demanding return of the money.

He got into a fight with Pacific Gas & Electric Company just a few years back because he claimed they over-charged him on one bill. He refused to pay — and the utilities company shut off his lights and heat. Thus the richest baseball player in the world sat in his home in the darkness — lonely but defiant.

Generous in philanthropies, the idea of anyone getting something for nothing galled him.

There's a story that he left some canned dog food for his hunting dogs with a caretaker a few years ago. Orders were to feed them only so much per day. When Cobb returned from a trip just about all the dog food was gone — when there should have been several cans still there.

The millionaire then accused the caretaker of gypping him by eating some of the dog food.

About a decade ago he ran afoul of the law in the town that in 1850 was the most lawless in all the west—a place now called Placerville, but known during the gold rush days as "Hangtown."

It was here that the greatest baseball player of all time was jailed. He was charged with assault and battery—on another ball player, in an automobile. By the time the case came to court, neither man could remember what the argument was about.

When Cobb's wife sued him for divorce some years ago, she declared his estate was worth something like $7,000,000.

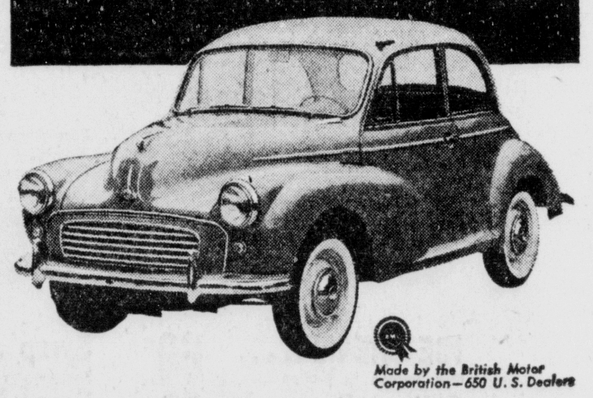

It's doubtful that Ty really wanted all that money. But the battle to gain it probably was his greatest satisfaction. In the last few years he set up funds for a hospital and an educational foundation in Georgia—and it is a good bet that he had just as much fun giving the money away as he did making it.

If Cobb had come west with the '49ers, it is possible that he would have ended up owning most of the west — or with a bullet hole in his head.

But he would have loved every minute of the battle.

Dark's Mistakes Killing Giants; Only Big Win Streak Can Save 'Em

CONNOLLY

Could it happen to the S.F. Giants? Of course, I'm referring to the club engineering a winning streak, say of 10 out of their next 14 games on the road.

They're off and running today on a tour that starts at St. Louis with two games, moves to Cincinnati next for four games, then climbs into Pittsburgh for three, then Philadelphia for three and winds up with the Dodgers in the Coliseum with a two-game setto.

A 10-game sweep at this stage of the flag chase would wipe out a tremendous stigma of Giant gloom which, since 1959, seems to cast its shadow over the fortunes of our boys REGULARLY at this time of the year.

Nobody can tell me that a freshman manager such as Alvin Dark isn't making as many mistakes as some of his frosh or inexperienced players.

THERE DOESN'T seem to be any particular pattern you can use on the Giants. In one game they sacrifice in the second inning of a scoreless game as they did Friday night against Pittsburgh, and the next day with a man on first and third base and the score tied at 0 to 0, they pass up the sacrifice and hit straightaway drawing a complete blank.

Now the handling of pitchers by Manager Dark leaves a lot for the imagination. He jerks 'em, slams them in and out of the game in great numbers. But why does he continue to send a boy on a man's journey as he did against the Pirates in that memorable 6 to 4 game of Friday. He yanked Jack Sanford for a young and promising, but green southpaw named Dick LeMay, who gave up the grand slam homer to Roberto Clemente. And after the damage was completed he brings in Stu Miller, who is about the steadiest and hardest working relief pitcher in the National League.

I ARGUE if he wanted to win that game in which he was leading 4 to 1 in the eighth inning, he should have skipped the lanky southpaw for Miller, who eventually had to come in and waste his time getting the side out. It's like closing the barn door after the old skate runs away.

Those are only a few of the complaints I have of Manager Dark. As everybody knows, his platooning system of late is truly atrocious.

A platoon system is justifiable, in my opinion, when you have the reserve, or bench, to warrant it. The Giants have no bench, no reserve strength and surely could get their players better acquainted with each other, if they were allowed to play more than one or two games together.

ALVIN DARK, the gentleman manager, has one fault, which he admits it, and that is stubbornness. That same fault cost Ty Cobb, the greatest ball player of the age, his job as a manager. Ty knew how to do it himself, but he couldn't tell anybody else and he had no patience with inferiority. I think that is what is wrong with Dark to date. He could catch himself and decide that he is out of the fight this year and settle down to being himself — which is a right smart fellow whose emotions drowns his judgment, particularly in the clinches when he seems to press the panic button altogether too soon and altogether too often.

WHEN I say Al Dark is stubborn, I mean he hates to back down on his snap judgment.

For example, he snap-judged on Chuck Hiller at second base, even at the expense of an old teammate, Don Blasingame. And all the time he had a potential hustling infielder he couldn't seem to fit into his jig saw puzzle, until forced to do so. I have in mind, Joe Amalfinato. Currently hustling Joe is the regular second sacker. His hitting is improving because he is allowed to play more often. He was in Dark's grab bag at the start of the race.

Tom Haller, an intelligent catcher, was plunged into the spotlight over Hobie Landrith, an experienced performer and all the time Dark insisted Haller was a better hitter than any righthanded catcher he had.

But it turns out he bounced Haller back to Tacoma and hustled in a young, somewhat clumsy but eager fellow named John Orsino. I knew last spring the Giants were lopsided with southpaw hitting catchers. And so did everybody else, excepting Dark.

But as I say, there's nothing wrong with the Giants a winning streak can't halt. The Boston Braves did it in 1914—mebbe the Giants can do it in 1961.

Anterless Deer Hunt Curtailment Is Likely

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The Department of Fish and Game proposals for antlerless deer hunts this year may be cut by more than 30 per cent as the result of adverse reactions in northeastern California.

The state fish and game commission meets in Sacramento July 31 to consider the 38 hunts proposed. They would be for a total of 18,480 permits.

Last year, 35 hunts, with 15,075 permits, were held.

Under the rather complicated procedure for special hunts, the Department of Fish and Game screens recommendations from its regional deer managers, then makes its recommendations to the commission. Where public opinion seems to be against special hunts, the department usually does not recommend them..

The commission sets hearings in each county where hunts are proposed. Following the hearings, the boards of supervisors in the counties involved have so many rays in which to adopt resolutions opposing the hunts. If this is not done, the hunts are held, providing the commissioners agree upon them.

At hearings held this year in Alturas and Susanville, Commisioner Henry Clineschmidt of Redding, said sentiment appeared to be strongly against such hunts. Clineschmidt said he conducted votes at both hearings, with the vote 3½ to 1 against in the Alturas hearing and 3-1 against in the Susanville hearing.

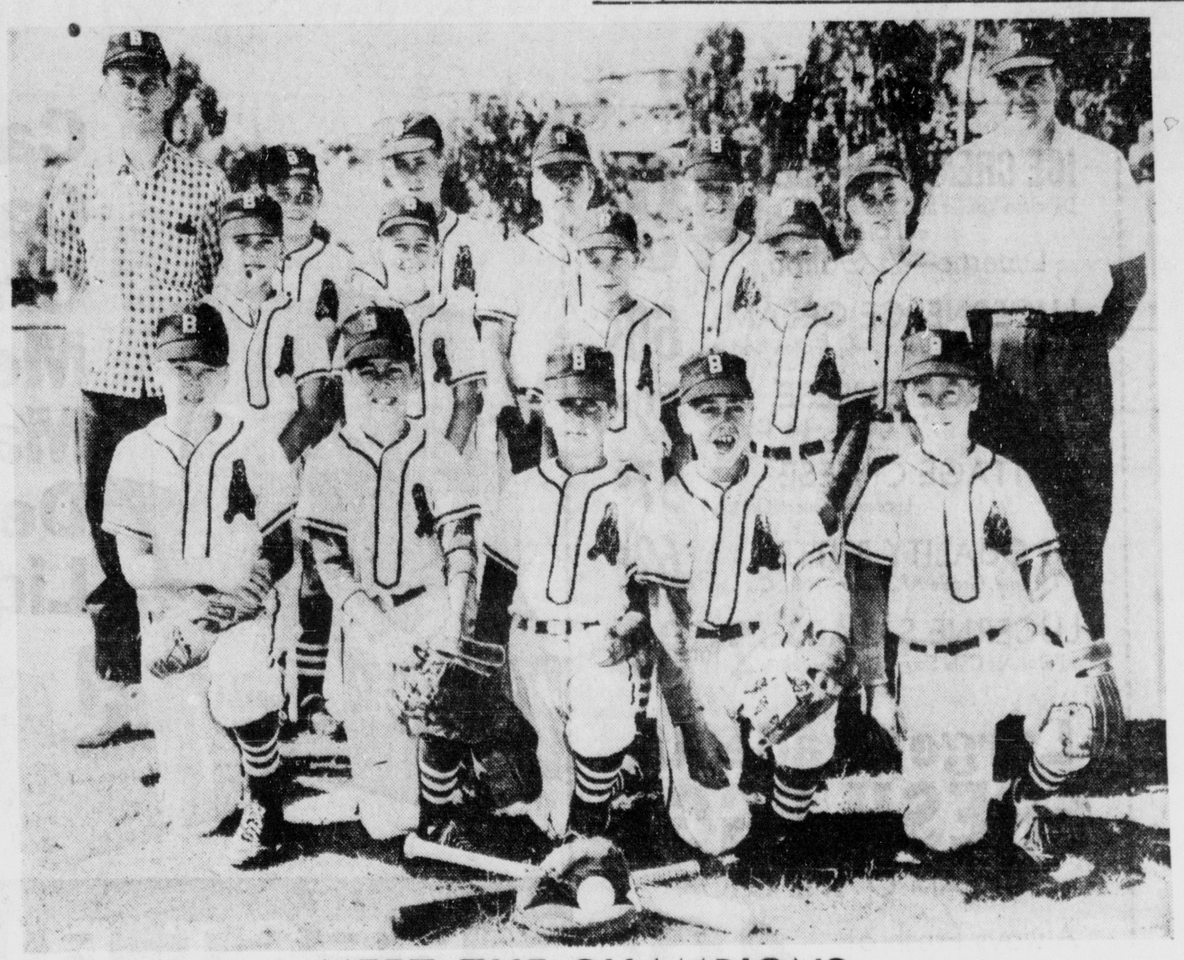

As a result, Clineschmidt said he would recommend to the commission that the hunts not be held in Modoc or Lassen Counties. In the face of such a recommendation, it was considered fairly certain the full commission will drop plans for hunts in Modoc of Lassen counties.

If the Lassen and Modoc hunts are dropped this year, as expected, it would mean reducing the total number of permits by 5,475.

Another hunt which seems sure to be canceled, although not large in number of permits, is the proposed Los Angeles archery hunt. At a hearing conducted by Commission President Jamie H. Smith, Los Angeles, considerable opposition was presented to archery hunting in general.

Elsewhere, little opposition to the hunts was reported.

Thus, it's likely the total number of permits to be approved for issuance for hunts this year will be about 12,800.

Are Lamphrey Eel Fish? Even The Experts Don't Seem To Agree

STEVENS

The phone rang. I lifted the receiver.

"This is Martha Adams. I am calling from Guernewood," I heard, and then: "You asked me to call you when the lamprey eels started running, remember?"

I remembered. I have been trying for years to be present when it happened, but this wasn't to be the time.

I saw, caught in the piers of the dam, a dozen or so lampreys, but all very, dead. The run had again come and gone. Mrs. Adams had been down to the river and saw a group of eelers grabbing lampreys with their hands and filling buckets and pans with the wriggling prey, but was unable to call me in time.

So, perhaps I'll be on the job the next time. I have jotted down the date and will be on the watch in 1962.

AN INTERESTING angle came up this time. My good friends swore that some of the folks snatching up the lampreys were without fishing licenses, and claimed there was no need for one. The argument between a group at the Adams' cottage waxed hot and heavy. It was unsatisfactorily settled by one of the group by bringing out a dog-eared copy of a Fish and Game Department bulletin in which was stated in plain type, under the heading "Lamprey," the following sentence: "Not a fish, and hence is not closely related to the true eel, the moray eel or the blenny eel." This in spite of the fact that the Encyclopedia Britannica lists lamprey as: "A fish of the family Petromyzontidae . . ."

So the question is, when is a fish not a fish and what would a game warden do about it? Got any ideas?

ONE THING I know, though, is that very shortly, if a fellow does a bit of spading along the banks of the Russian River, he has a good chance of finding himself a lot of small, wormlike animals that bear not the slightest resemblance to a river lamprey but actually are its young. If the baby lamprey can be attached to a hook, the average game fish in the river will grab it. It is said that a black bass will willingly trade half its full supply of scales for a couple of juicy undeveloped Petromyzontidae.

Most of us know the true eel is used as bait by many anglers. I have it on good authority that in the auld country, the best bait to be had for commercial fishing with hooks and line has always been the lamprey eel.

It's no wonder that most folks disdain the lamprey as an item of food. They are repulsive looking and covered with a slime, but some epicures prefer them to most other sea foods.

COMING HOME late Saturday afternoon, I noted dozens of rodmen fishing off the Black Point Cut-Off Road. I saw only one fish taken, however.

A RECENT release from the Fish and Game Department states that a plant of 400,000 fingerling channel catfish is scheduled for Clear Lake during the next few weeks. It shouldn't be many years before we will be able to catch 'em. They grow big, those channel cats.

WE ARE IN for eight days of near-normal tides. It should send a flock of stripers now in the lower spots upstream and may furnish better bait fishing than we have had. Here's hoping I can so announce in my next column. Until then—good luck and go get 'em!

Turkeys, Spit-Barbecued Are Fun And Easy Summer Meal

SPIT BARBECUING is fun when planning a backyard supper for the family or a special get-together for the crowd. Turkeys turn out especially well and it is possible to place two and even three small turkeys on the spit at any one time.

Spit barbecuing is lots of fun whether you're planning a backyard supper for the family or a special get-together for the crowd, and California turkeys work out especially well. There's nothing better for appetite building plus giving everyone a chance to kibitz on how to barbecue with a flair.

It is possible to place two and even three small turkeys on the spit at one time. When barbecuing two, for example, place the birds tight against each other on the spit. Imbed the first fork into the breast of the forward bird and the second fork into the tail end of the last bird. Tie twine around birds to fasten the wings and legs close to the body. For three, you can place small birds side by side on the spit.

To test accurately for doneness, insert a meat thermometer in the heavy portion of the thigh of one of the birds before adjusting on spit and leave it there during the entire cooking period. Thermometer will read 180-185 degrees when turkey is cooked. (The heat of the fire will not damage the thermometer.)

For the first 15 minutes or so, keep your fire at topmost position and baste frequently with Italian Basting Sauce until bird is seared, taking care that the skin does not blister. After that, the fire may be lowered to a point where the bird will sizzle mildly and the juices bubble constantly as it turns; continue to baste with sauce and pan juices until turkey is done. While the host carves the flavorful barbecued turkey, the remainder of the meal may be assembled including Sesame Buns, *Easy Potato Salad, Jellied Cranberry Sauce, Ripe Olives and Fresh Peach Shortcake for dessert.

To Prepare Twin Turkeys for Spit Barbecuing: Select young, junior-size birds that are approximately the same in weight—from 4 to 8 pounds. Your purchase, of course, will depend somewhat upon size of the barbecue equipment and the number of people you wish to serve. Start barbecue fire early to have coals burning well for low, steady heat. Rinse thawed turkeys well with cold water; pat dry. Brush inside cavities with Italian Basting Sauce for a special flavor accent. Insert meat thermometer in one turkey and adjust both of them on spit as previously described. Tie heavy twine around turkeys to hold wings and legs securely in place. Check turkeys for balance by rotating spit between palms. Attach spit and brush birds all over with Italian Basting Sauce. Start motor, basting frequently with sauce. If you haven't a thermometer, turkey is done when the thigh breaks easily from bird.

Italian Basting Sauce: Follow the measuring lines on a mixing jar with tightly fitting cover. Pour in Sauterne Wine to water level (6 tablespoons). Add contents of one envelope Italian Salad Dressing Mix. Shake well. Add salad oil (⅔ cup). Shake again.

EASY POTATO SALAD

- 1 envelope Onion Salad Dressing Mix
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 6 cups boiled, cubed potatoes
- 2 hard-boiled sliced eggs (optional)
- ½ cup chopped dill pickle

Combine mix, mayonnaise and vinegar in small bowl. Blend with potatoes, hard-cooked eggs and dill pickle. Chill until serving time. Makes 8 generous servings.

Almond Dip

This dip makes a good sandwich filling too. Combine softened cream cheese with chopped roasted almonds and minced sweet pickle. Season to taste with chili powder and celery salt.

When Hamburger Is 'Kromeski'

Even cooks who insist their families like nothing better than "just plain meat and potatoes" perk up their ears, we notice, when a new way of serving ground beef is mentioned.

So here, ladies, is something to try with hamburger meat.

The first thing that attracted us about the recipe was the name: kromeski. You can spell the word kromesky, if you like, and believe it or not it's in Webster. There a kromeski is defined as "a kind of croquette wrapped in bacon or cow's udder, dipped in batter, and fried." We wrap our kromeskis in bacon!

The friend who gave us this recipe tells us that her freezer always holds a small tray of kromeskis ready to be dipped and fried. Her youngsters consider them very partyish, and she serves them in frankfurter rolls, plain or toasted, with go-alongs of sliced tomato, onion rings, and bread-and-butter pickles.

KROMESKIS

- 2 pounds ground chuck beef
- 2 eggs
- 2 sandwich-size slices bread (each ¼-inch thick)
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons catchup
- 1 to 3 teaspoons aromatic bitters
- 12 slices bacon
- Batter
- Vegetable shortening (for frying)

Mix the meat and eggs. Soak the bread (including the crusts) in water and squeeze out the moisture. Add the bread to the meat mixture along with the salt, pepper, catchup, and aromatic bitters. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Form into 12 sausage-shaped patties. Wrap a slice of bacon around each. Heat ½ cup shortening (or more) in a heavy skillet on top of the range or in an electric skillet set at 375 degrees. Dip the kromeskis in batter and fry in the hot fat about 8 minutes, turning to brown on all sides, or until the meat is cooked through. This can be done in two lots, adding more shortening as needed.

To prepare batter: Beat together 1 large egg, 6 tablespoons milk and 3 tablespoons flour until smooth.

Trifled-With Trifle For A Tipsy Cake

Even the English, sticklers for tradition, occasionally take liberties with their century-old dishes.

For years and years the famous English Trifle was made with sponge cake, fruit, jam, sherry, custard and macaroons. Now we notice that the newest edition of Mrs. Beeton, best known of all English cook books, gives no less than half a dozen versions of this dessert.

We, too, have taken liberties with Trifle and have turned it into Tipsy Cake. Our cake has a custard filling rather than a soft custard sauce, so the sponge layers stay on the firm side. For the spirit, we prefer rum to sherry.

You'll find this cake makes a superlative ending for a buffet supper. We dotted the whipped cream topping with tiny macaroons and candied violets and at our house this whimsical garnish made a great hit.

TIPSY CAKE

- 2 9-inch sponge cake layers
- 1 cup apricot preserves
- 1 cup white rum
- 1 can (1 pound, 4½ ounces) pineapple spears

Custard

- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) freestone peaches (drained) and sliced)

Slice each cake layer in half to make 4 layers. Mix preserves and ½ cup of the rum. Spread bottom halves of cake with preserve mixture; replace tops. Place one of the preserve-filled layers in a deep serving dish; sprinkle with ¼ cup of the remaining rum. Arrange half the drained fruit over cake. Spoon 1 cup of the custard over the fruit. Add second preserve-filled layer; sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup rum; cover with remaining fruit and custard. Chill over-night. Before serving, top with whipped cream and garnish as desired. Makes 12 to 18 servings.

CUSTARD

- ¼ cup sugar
- 2½ tablespoons corn starch
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 1 egg (well beaten)
- 1 tablespoon vanilla

In top of double boiler, mix together thoroughly the sugar, corn starch and salt. Add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally; if using glass double boiler, increase this time to 15 minutes. Stir a small amount of the hot mixture into egg; at once pour back and blend into remaining hot mixture. Cook over boiling water 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Cool. makes 2 cups.

Note: Have enough boiling water in bottom part of double boiler to leave drops on upper part when it is inserted and raised. If after the first cooking period. water in bottom of glass double boiler has evaporated considerably, add ½ cup boiling water.

Summer Breakfast

Something has to be done about breakfast in the hot weather. Unless its appealing, though, most people will pass it up. Toast and English muffins stay crisper and crunchier when toasted in the broiler of a gas range Topped with cinnamon, butter, sugar, flaked coconut or nuts and given an extra minute under the flame, it acquires a glamour touch. Serve the broiler toast with bowls of fresh fruit topped with a dollop of sour cream and honey.

SPECIAL CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM SODAS

- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 tablespoons instant coffee
- 2 cups chilled milk
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 3 bottles (6 ounces each) sparkling water
- 1 quart chocolate ice cream

Mix sugar and instant coffee; dissolve in a little milk; mix in remaining milk and almond extract. Place a small scoop of ice cream in each of 6 tall glasses. Divide milk mixture among the glasses; fill almost to top with sparkling water and stir gently to blend liquids. Top each glass with a large scoop of the remaining ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Kitchen Pitfalls Lie Ahead To Catch The Novice Cook

BY JEANNE LESEM

A bride we know used hot water from the tap to prepare geletin dessert from a packaged mix. The dessert was grainy and rubbery because the crystals didn't dissolve completely.

"The directions said hot water," she complained. "How hot is hot?" Such directions cause many kitchen catastrophes for inexperienced cooks, said our friend, who thinks the directions should have specified water at or near the boiling point.

The bride wanted to surprise her husband with mayonnaise made with their electric blender, a wedding present. The mixture curdled—once, when she added oil too rapidly; a second time when she poured oil so slowly the motor overheated. A more experienced cook later explained that the stream of oil should begin as thin as a pencil lead and advance to pencil thickness as the sauce becomes creamy and thick. Curdled batches need not be wasted. Starting again with an egg or egg yolk, you add the separated mixture like oil as the mayonnaise thickens.

VAGUE DIRECTIONS

Overbuying and waste are another complaint the bride had against vague package and recipe directions. She wanted to know how many whole cranberries make 1 cup, chopped (answer, about 2 cups); what size avocado makes 1 cup, chopped (1 medium). She also wanted aspic and souffle recipes to include the size mold or dish needed; and manufacturers to mark cooking and baking utensils clearly and permanently with capacity and diameter.

Other pitfalls that await novice cooks:

Recipes for baked goods that don't include the type of material recommended for the cooking utensil. Shiny metals should be placed on a rack near the oven floor; ovenproof glass, china, ceramic and cast iron, on a middle rack, because they heat more slowly and retain heat longer. Pyroceram ware retains even more heat than china, ceramic or iron, and needs lower temperatures.

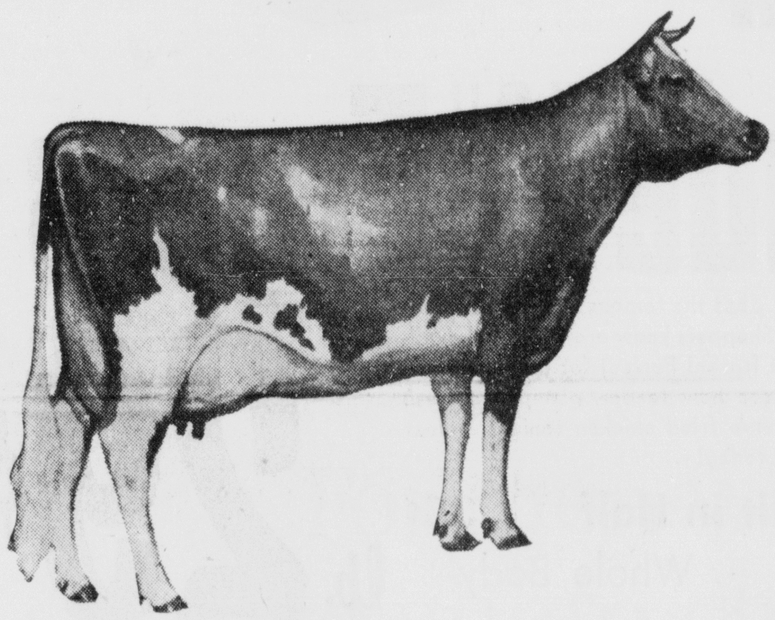

With flour, liquid absorbency varies by brands. The only way we've learned to judge the correct amount is by appearance and consistency of the batter.

THERMOMETER AID

Working wives to cook a small roast or fowl quickly after work often that extra oven time in needed when raw food is at refrigerator instead of room temperature. A meat thermometer inserted properly in the raw meat is the best gauge; cutting into meat to see if it's done releases juices and dries out the roast if much additional cooking is needed. A tightly-fitted pot lid for covered dishes also speeds cooking, both top-stove and oven.

Pot size also governs liquid requirements. More liquid is needed in wider pots than in narrow ones.

Once you learn to exercise judgment with such problems, you can face kitchen crises with the aplomb of the bride who absent-mindedly added chocolate to all the batter for a two-color, two-flavor pie filling. To darken the chocolate layer, she added red vegetable coloring. When that didn't work, she added blue. But her guests didn't notice the purple result, she concluded, because she served dessert by candlelight. (UPI)

'Woman Who Has Everything'

THIS IS lyric soprano Corinne Swall as she appears in concerts. She also sings leading roles both in operas such as Verdi's "Rigoletto" and Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and in musicals like "Rose Marie."

Kentfield Soprano Corinne Swall Will Appear As Concert Soloist

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Corinne Swall of Kentfield, who will be appearing as a soloist on Aug. 19 with Arthur Fiedler and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, could well be considered a woman who has everything.

The young lyric soprano possesses or has achieved what many women feel are some of the most worthwhile objectives in life.

Hazel-eyed, blond and attractive enough to be a movie star, Corinne is married to Jacob Krachmalnick, considered by many critics to be one of the top young violinists in the United States today. She is the mother of an adorable two-year-old daughter, Janice, and the list of her accomplishments is formidable.

These include appearances as leading soprano with the Philadelphia Co-Opera Company. And the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and star of the Carre Theater in Amsterdam, Holland, as well as of TV operas and spectaculars in America and Europe.

She has also sung the leading feminine role in "The Gypsy Baron" and "Rose Marie" with the Oakland Civic Light Opera Company and appeared in many recitals both alone and with her husband.

One unusual honor was that of singing in a concert sponsored by the Philadelphia Little Symphony Association, a composition heard for the first time even by the composer, Villa-Lobos, one of the greatest of living composers.

"This was about the most exciting thing I have done in music," she said.

Born in Ross — probably because the boundary line between Ross and Kentfield runs through Ross Hospital, and the maternity ward is in Ross—Corinne has always considered Kentfield her home, for she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swall of Kentfield.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, the College of Marin and the University of California with major in English literature, Corinne also has a degree in voice from the Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

While studying there she was often accompanied by Peggy Salkind, widely known with her husband, Milton, as Mill Valley's nationally known concert duo pianists.

She credits winning of two Marin Music Chest scholarships with starting her on her professional career.

"It isn't the money you win that counts," the young singer explained. "It's the expression of faith that you have potential professional capacity."

Corinne applied the money from the second Chest scholarship on tuition at the Juilliard School of Music, where she later won other scholarships.

The Krachmalnicks were married in 1953 and lived in Philadelphia for five years and in Holland, where Corinne sang in the Carre Theater, one of Europe's leading musical theaters, while her husband was concert-master and soloist with the Concertgebow Orchestra in Amsterdam.

When they returned to this country in the spring of 1960 the Krachmalnicks decided to make the Swall's home their regular residence.

With a baby to care for, the young singer could no longer accompany her husband on his numerous engagements all over the country and abroad. This is the one dark cloud on the Krachmalnicks' bright horizon—that the family cannot be together all the time

Krachmalnick does, however, fly to Marin between engagements to spend time with his wife and baby, who looks like a blond, curly haired, blue-eyed doll.

Marin music lovers will be seeing more of Corinne after her appearance with Fiedler in the Pops Concert next month. She has been signed to sing Gilda in "Rigoletto" on TV station KQED and Norina in "Don Pasquale," both under the auspices of the San Francisco Opera Guild.

She has also been asked by Hugo Rinaldi to sing with the San Rafael Baroque String Orchestra in its next season.

Mink Sales Serve As Barometer For Stock Market Trends

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — At first thought, mink and the stock market seems worlds apart.

Not, however, after you have talked with Michael Forrest, whose firm bills itself as the "mink king" of the fur industry.

Forrest said that mink sales are an excellent barometer of stock market trends. And at present, the outlook is for stock improvement by fall. Business in fur showrooms already is whirring.

"The fur business is there first," said Forrest. "Then the stock market rises. Our sales increase, or slump, about three months ahead of what will happen to the stock market. This cycle has been consistent in the more than 20 years I've been in the business."

Forrest is partner in and head designer for manufacturers who boast the largest fur vaults in the ntaion.

It keeps a basic inventory of $2 million (wholesale) of garments at all times. Most of the inventory is mink, for mink sales make up 85 per cent of the company's total. Furs range from stoles wholesaling for $350 to a rare breath of spring mutation mink coat wholesaling for $25,000.

Forrest joined the firm in 1939 as a salesman, quitting a job as an accountant in the government's administration of anti-trust legislation. He had been assigned to the fur industry.

He said mink sales indicate the state of the economy, because the fur is pure luxury. item. It sells when there is plenty of extra spending money around; when money is scarce, the mink furrier is first to feel the pinch.

"Last year," he said, "our sales dropped sharply . . . the nation had a recession. This year started off poorly, but has picked up phenomenally.

The company claims not only the largest stock of mink on hand, but also to have made the world's largest mink stole. It was created in a blue iris shade for Geraldine Page, the actress, who wore it in a recent Tennessee Williams play on Broadway.

"Or rather she wound it around her," said Forrest.

Most stoles contain 10 to 12 mink skins. This one had 120 pelts, enough to make two mink coats. "It was as long as our showroom (about 14 feet)," said Forrest, "and so heavy our size eight models couldn't lift it." The stole was valued at $12,000.

But that mink was created for dramatic effect. Most furs now tend to simplicity of styling instead of opulence, Forrest said.

"You won't see big cape collars on the fine coats," he said. "Women want furs with a youthful styling . . . a sculptured, chiseled, sporty look.

Scientists Finds Dried Pear Strips Create New Candy

DAVIS (UPI) — Dried pears in strips like licorice?

That's the possibility raised by a University of California food scientist who has developed a new product, dehydrated pear puree. Almost any shape —strips, sheets or cookie-like chunks — will be possible.

The process worked out by Martin W. Miller could result in mechanization of the ancient task of cutting pears in half and laying them in the sun to dry, a university spokesman said.

It also makes good use of much of the fruit which now must be rejected because it is misshapen or undersized.

Miller took a cue from a Middle East product known to the Arabs as "apricot leather." He made a puree of pears, then poured the liquid on trays and dried it at 120 degrees for about 15 hours.

The result was concentrated pear, minus the skin which often interferes with quality of traditionally dried pear halves.

Jane Ellen Herman Bride In Sausalito

Jane Ellen Herman became the bride of Gerald N. Hill at Saturday nuptials at the Sausalito Woman's Club. The bride was given in marriage by her father, M. Justin Herman of Sausalito.

Her sister Jennifer was maid of honor for the bride and bridesmaids were Linda Ramey of Fairfax, Nancy Dragin of Shaker Heights, O., and Nancy Kern of Wasco.

James M. Bennison of Fremont, and formerly of Sausalito, was best man. Escorting guests to their seats were Lewis Upton of Corte Madera, William L. Porter and Kenneth A. Murray, both of Palo Alto.

Jane, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman, is a student at Mills College. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School. Her grandmother, Mrs. Jane Herman of New Bedford, Mass., attended the wedding.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Raymond T. Hill of Little Reed Heights, and the late Mr. Hill. He is a graduate of Stanford University and Hastings College of Law. Mrs. Lewis Upton is his sister.

Contest Is Open To New Age Group

This year the "Make It Yourself With Wool" sewing contest will be open to women over 21, Virginia Porter, Marin County home adviser, has announced.

The adult and sub-deb contests will be limited to the district level, while junior and seniors will compete for state and national awards. Scholarships, savings bonds and trips are among the prizes.

Sub-debs, 13 to 15 years old, will compete in skirt, skirt and sleeveless top, or jumper categories; juniors, 14-17; seniors 18-21; and adults all will compete in their divisions in dress, suit, coat or ensemble categories.

The district contest is Oct. 7 in Lakeport. Entry blanks are available from the Home Adviser's office, Rm. 2, Post Office Bldg., San Rafael.

Being Near Illnesses Can Cause Symptoms

Illness of relatives or close friends with cancer, heart disease or other serious illness can make some people sick, particularly if they are over 40.

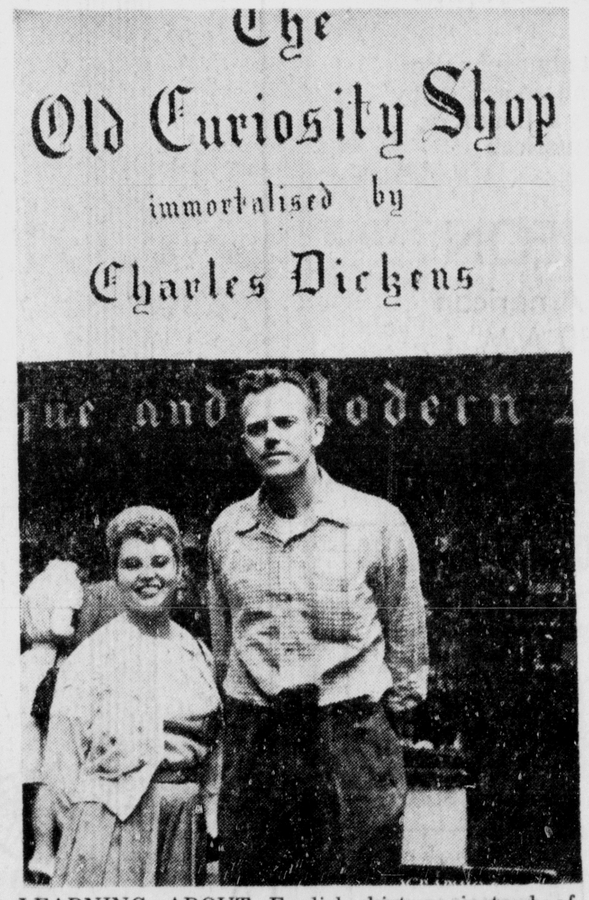

The diseases aren't contagious, but the fear of getting them can be. And that fear can bring on symptoms of illness, remark Drs. Jackson A. Smith and Lester H. Rudy of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute.

Such persons may become nervous, short of breath, feel their hearts racing, their ears ringing, and get indigestion and other troubles. The cure lies in recognizing and getting rid of the anxiety.

Watch Your Step

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Safety Council reports that falls kill and injure more people in the home than any other type of accident.

Pam Stettler To Be Guest At Graduation

Invitations are in the mail from the John Robert Powers School of 1000 Fifth Avenue, in San Rafael for its graduation July 28 at the home of Mrs. Leavitt Olds.

Highlights of the evening will be a fashion show followed with the distribution of diplomas by John Robert Powers. Miss Pamela Stettler, who holds the title of Miss Marin and Miss California of 1961 and who was first runner up for the title of Miss USA in Miami Beach, will be a guest of honor.

Miss Joanne Bernave and Mrs. Ray Duncan have assisted the graduates in their plans.

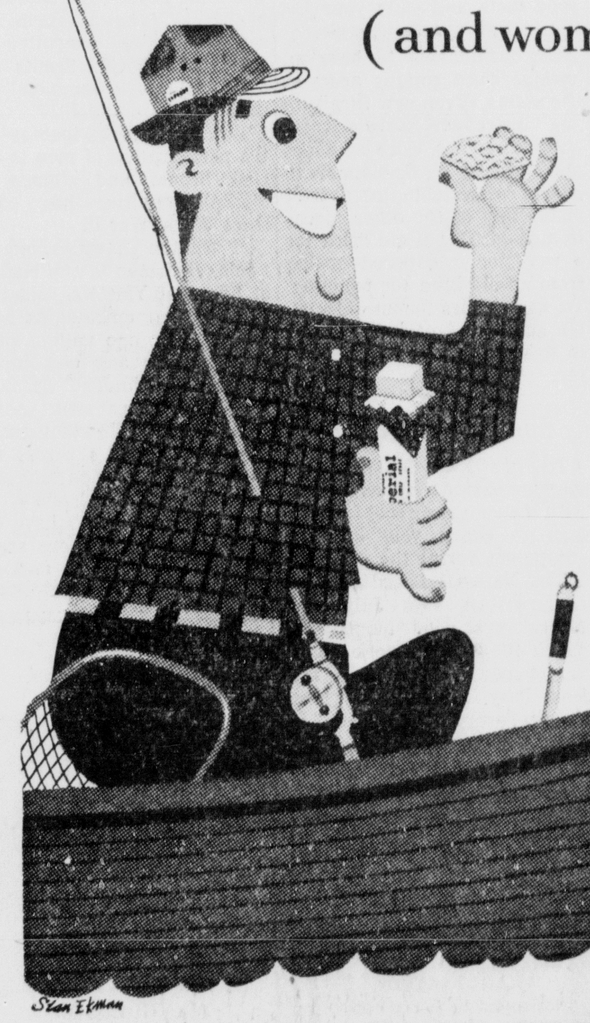

Diplomas will be presented to Sandra Bates, Carolyn Beach, Susan Brown, Barbara Dupuis, Bobette Fleishman, Paula Heger, Charlotte Huebner, Marilyn Kascel, Margo Moulton, Carolyn Olds, Kathy Pape and Gloria Puccinelli.

Flare's The Thing

The flare's the thing for fall. Women's Wear Daily reports the trend is picking up speed at markets. There is flare at the back of jackets, worked out in the umbrella gores or a diagonally placed capelet. The softened flare line on skirts gives a new slant to classic clothes.

For men who love sharp cheddar

(and women who love them)

As far as we know, MacLaren's Imperial is the oldest brand of cheddar sold in North America, or maybe the world. In Canada, that able Scotsman, the late Mr. Alex MacLaren, started marketing this truly sharp club cheddar (in opal glass pots!) about 1891. When we bought the thriving MacLaren business in 1921 we discontinued the "pots," but never, never changed the quality of the cheddar one whit. Now we're proud to offer it, in a handy new 10-oz. stick, to all devotees of genuinely sharp cheddar. Kraft Foods, Chicago.

P.S. Please bear in mind this is natural cheese, not processed. "Club" simply means that long-long aged cheddars have been blended together so they're SPREADABLE.

AN IMPROMPTU skit is enacted by youngsters as part of their training at Belvedere-Tiburon Unit of Junior Theater workshop session, giving them experience in acting, directing, dialogue and stage managing. Here learning their "lessons" from left are Ann Conner, Tommy Murray and Carol Norberg. Actual do-it-yourself acting experience such as this is provided to all Marin youngsters participating in the Junior Theatre summer workshop program given by various units.

THE PART of the Butterfly is under discussion by Joy Neida, who will play the role Friday and Saturday for the performances, and William Witt, director of the Belvedere-Tiburon Unit's summer workshops. (Independent-Journal photos)

Theatrical 'Lessons' To Be Tested In Weekend Programs

By CORENA GREEN

Enjoying the creative atmosphere of a summer theater workshop are some 60 Reed Union School District youngsters.

They meet daily in the Reed School auditorium, directed by San Francisco Actors Workshop member William Witt, who teaches speech and drama at Lincoln High School in San Francisco and has worked with primary grade youngsters in theater workshop in San Francisco.

Dividing this group into two sessions, Witt meets with those over nine years of age three days a week, and with those under nine two days. Each group will present a play on Friday and Saturday. One, called "Wait and See," is the younger group's presentation and the other is "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil."

Workshop activity has provided an opportunity for the participants to act as directors, critics, backstage workers and actors. When asked the first day "Who would like to be a director?" several students volunteered. As a result different groups planned and rehearsed their own plays within a prescribed half-hour limit. The audience of classmates offered critical judgments and there began an awareness of good staging, blocking, dialogue and timing.

"Working with youngsters is a refreshing, rejuvenating experience," says Witt, who, with his wife, Bunny, has appeared in several Actors Workshop productions.

The two plays will be given Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Reed School auditorium. Reservations for birthday parties are taken by Mrs. Richard Adams of Tiburon.

Appearing in "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" are Carol Norberg, giving the prologue; Lewis Boyd, "You," a member of the audience; Joanne Issel, queen; Tracy Brash, boy; Tom Murray, mime; Ann Conner, milkmaid; Ricky Conner, blind man; Jerry Kerson, head cutter; Gene Garcia, ballad singer; Joy Neida, butterfly.

In the cast of "Wait and See" are Ricky Conner, Mr. Button; Joanne Issel, Mrs. Button; Bonnie Parker, Mary; Jim Murray, Jim; Ruth MacKay, Betsy; Lily Frye, Susie; Robin Chapman, Kathy; David Lipschultz, John; Douglas Dransfield, Tom; Shelly Adams, Brenda Davidson, Shelly Marlow and Nicolette Cohen, fairies, and Caroline Duke and Anne Williams, guests.

Children not appearing in the plays who have registered for the workshop program will be given tickets for Saturday's play, announced Mrs. Eugene Murray, Belvedere-Tiburon Junior Theater unit president. The unit is presenting the summer workshop.

Two Are Honored By Mrs. Canfield

Mrs. Ella Marie Canfield was hostess at a luncheon for 10 Friday at her home in Tamalpais Valley.

Guests of honor were Dr. Idabelle Main of Mill Valley and her sister, Mrs. Howard Berkstresser of Honolulu.

Dr. Main will be leaving Mill Valley permanently for Pasadena in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkstresser have been visiting relatives and friends in many states since April and have been in Mill Valley for the past two weeks. They plan to leave for Honolulu on July 24.

'Y' Memberships Reflect New Co-Educational Trend In Clubs

By CLAIRE COX

The sound of girlish laughter echoes through a YMCA gymnasium.

A troop of St. Louis Girl Scouts calls its leader "Pop."

These are the sounds of another kind of integration that is going on in America—co-education in club groups.

The Young Men's Christian Assn. boasts more than 600,000 women and girls among its 2,646,000 members. Officials of the service organization said that the distaff department is its fastest-growing section.

The Girl Scouts of America report 40,000 men are active in scouting, from plumbing to managing the organization's high finance.

These situations reflect a growing trend toward coeducational activities and stepped-up family participation in activities outside the home.

Neither the YMCA nor the Girl Scouts ever has been limited to the participation of one sex, contrary to popular belief. The first boys' work secretary of the YMCA was a woman. The second national executive director of the Girl Scouts was a man, Montagu Gammon, who served in 1916 and 1917.

But the biggest increase in the participation of men in the Girl Scouts and women in YMCA activities has come since World War II.

J. Clinton Hawkins, of St. Louis, chairman of the National Board of YMCA's, said that while male memberships have increased by one million since 1940, women and girl enrollments have jumped by 500,000, or 477 per cent, in the same period. Three-fourths of the 1,826 YMCA's across the nation report women and girls as members, he said.

Some local YMCA's have women presidents. There are a number of women in national executive posts. Mrs. Edna Rowley, the assistant recording secretary, manages the national financial service bureau that helps local units raise money.

In 1950, there were 1,461 women on YMCA local boards. Now there are more than twice that number.

YMCA group activities mainly for women have increased 71.7 per cent since 1950. Groups for girls are up to 130.6 per cent. Co-educational programs have risen by 96.9 per cent.

In Newark, N. J., there is a new combined YMCA-YWCA operation and the two locals in Ann Arbor, Mich., have merged, but in most cases the YWCAs prefer to keep their own identity and their own basically feminist program.

Male participation in Girl Scouting is on a different level. Boys have not yet been admitted as troop members, but men are active in scout leadership.

There are more than three million Girl Scouts, with well over 750,000 adults involved. The 40,000 men serve at the side of women and under their supervision.

Louis Antoine, an automobile insurance executive, for example, is first vice president of the St. Louis Girl Scout Council. The father of two sons and no daughters, Antoine accepts assignments from his woman boss, substitutes for her at public meetings, offers the male viewpoint at board meetings and tries to interest other men in the Girl Scouts.

"At home," he says, "I don't get a chance to open my mouth."

Marvin Eaton, assistant to works manager of the St. Louis Car Co., has been a troop leader for 11 years. He and his wife, "Pop" and "Mom" to their girls, have taken the troop on camping trips throughout the country. They have had the same girls since they were seven-year-old Brownie scouts. Now the girls are sophomores and juniors in high school.

No Circles For Silver

Experts advise polishing silver in long horizontal strokes rather than in circles. And after polishing, always wash silver in extremely hot suds and rinses, and dry with a soft, clean towel.

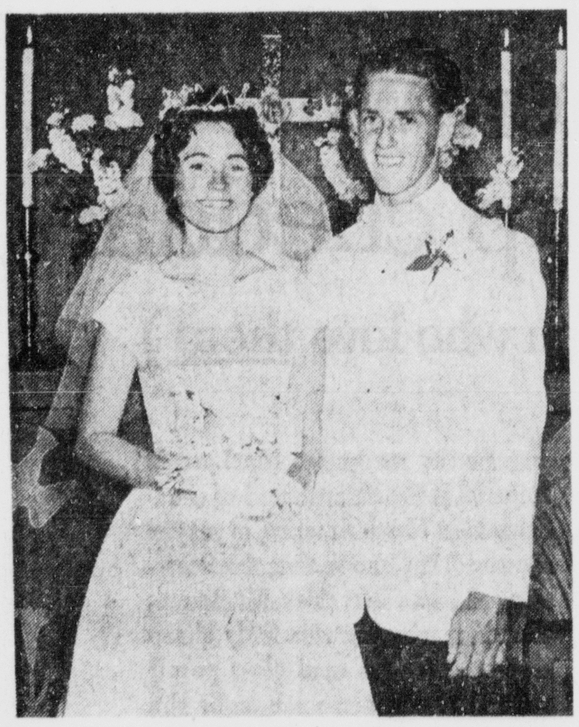

Richard Simmons Is Married At Sonoma Church Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simmons are at home in Fairfax after their wedding at Trinity Episcopal Church in Sonoma and a wedding trip to Southern California.

The bride, the former Linda Dian Smith, wore for the June 24 nuptials a princess style gown of white brocade. Her maid of honor, Maureen Milligan of Alturas, wore a blue peau de soie dress. Ronald Smith of Alturas gave his daughter in marriage.

Best man for his brother was Ronald Simmons of Southern California. The newlyweds were honored at a reception July 9 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Salvatore Barone of Woodacre.

Linda attends the College of Marin, as does her husband. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wray L. Simmons of Woodacre and was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School.

MARRIED IN Sonoma, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simmons are now residing in Fairfax. The bride is the former Linda Dian Smith. Both are students at the College of Marin.

Recent Emphasis Early Americana In Furnishings

Fashions in furnishings seem to move, like a pendulum, between informality and elegance. These swings of the pendulum are quite obvious at the market showings in Chicago, and predict trends that will affect the way we live—the merchandise we'll find locally.

You've seen the furniture ads of the last two-three years: very elegant. But now research reveals that women don't associate themselves with this elegance. They yearn for "warmth and coziness"—which accounts for the recent emphasis on early American. The pendulum is starting to swing back. It appears that the swing will continue to an emphasis on "contemporary."

Keep in mind that it isn't necessary to follow market trends slavishly to keep in style. Any furniture that is in good taste and suits your living will always be in style.

It's fashionable to have an antique chest coming apart at the seams. (Even new furniture has "distressed" finish—worm holes, scratches, worn-off edges and corners.) It's fashionable to have a coffee table that doesn't match any of the other pieces in a room. To use old brick for a wall, or weathered siding from an old barn for paneling. To scour attics for an old platter or early American lantern to use in an accessory grouping.

Summer Check-up

NEW YORK — Make a note on your calendar to set a date with the oil, gas or coal furnace man to check your heating equipment during the summer.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters says July and August are good months in which to get this work done. Servicemen at that time are least busy. Studies show that almost every tenth fire is caused by defective heating units.

'Newer' Viruses Really Aren't Anything Novel

"New" virus diseases seem to be popping up.

But it is highly improbable they are brand new diseases. More likely, they've always been around, but were just submerged or not recognized because of more prevalent diseases, says Drs. Ernest H. Watson and George H. Lowrey, University of Michigan pediatricians.

When old killer or serious diseases were conquered, the virus diseases had a better chance of making a mark, became more prevalent or people become more aware of them.

But it is unlikely that our Stone Age ancestors had measles, common colds, or 'flu, the physicians said. Hunters and gatherers, those people lived in small groups, and didn't come in contact enough with one another to keep the germs thriving. Civilization and crowding gave infectious diseases a more fertile ground.

Miss Hubbard Engaged To Jerry W. Ford

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hubbard of San Rafael announce the engagement of their only daughter, Donna, to Jerry W. Ford.

The bride-elect is a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin. She is presently employed as a staff assistant at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in San Francisco.

Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ford and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linebaugh of San Rafael. He is a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin, and is presently serving with the Armed Services statioined at Camp Irwin. His brother is Russell Ford of San Rafael.

Mist Scarf Hood

When the winds blow, your coiffure won't—if you wear a scarf hood to cover your hair with a mist of white, coral, maize, or black nylon tricot. This combo, which wraps around and neatly buttons in back with no loose ends, can be washed by hand in warm suds and rinses.

Bulk Buying Of Milk May Save Money

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Do you ever get the feeling that if your kids drank one more ounce of milk a week it would be cheaper to buy a cow?

The State Department of Agriculture, which controls the price of milk, has come up with an answer for such cases: bulk buying discounts for consumers.

J. P. Duffy, Los Angeles area supervisor for the Bureau of Milk Stabilization, said the new method went into effect in San Francisco last week. It was already being used by consumers in the Los Angeles, Oakland, San Bernardino and Riverside areas.

Here's how it works:

If investigators find that grocery stores or supermarkets in any of the state's 27 milk marketing areas are making substantial savings in handling halfgallon containers of milk, these savings are passed on to the consumer by cutting the price of milk.

Duffy said in each case so far, 2 cents has been knocked off the price of half-gallons when a consumer buys two or more half-gallons at a time.

"This recognizes savings within the store itself," Duffy said. "Some grocers claimed that these savings did exist and asked for a study." The department and the University of California came up with the fact that it takes less time for a clerk to handle a half-gallon container than to pick up and carry two quart containers.

Duffy said the new pricing system may result in increased milk consumption.

"We suspect a housewife might buy an extra-half-gallon because of the saving," he said, "then the kids will drink it because it is there, and they'll need more milk sooner than they would otherwise."

He said the system probably would accelerate the shift from quarts to half-gallons. Most milk marketing areas already grant a ½-cent saving per quart when they buy larger containers. This would give the housewife an actual saving of six cents when she buys two half-gallons instead of four quarts.

Duffy said hearings on the new system had not yet been held in non-metropolitan areas, some of which might not have populations large enough to take advantage of the savings. He said most savings are made in large shopping centers where large volumes of milk are handled daily.

ON VACATION at the Elbow Beach Surf Club in Bermuda are Mrs. Evelyn McIlwaine and son, Mack of San Rafael.

We're Still Too Heartless When It Comes To Epileptics

Why are we so heartless with epileptic children? We help youngsters with cerebral palsy. We can't do enough for little polio victims. But we turn our backs on boys and girls with epilepsy. Odd, isn't it?

At least one child in 100 has epilepsy. At least 10 more are potentially epileptic. The disease follows different patterns. Some seizures are so slight that nobody notices. Some cause great convulsions. Certain types of attacks create temporary mental haziness, without observable physical reactions. Others cause fainting spells and long blackouts.

Formerly we expected children with epilepsy to deteriorate. We thought they'd wind up as imbeciles in mental hospitals. Now we know better. Well over half of the people with epilepsy can prevent the attacks if they take the right medicines. Unfortunately many epileptic children get no medical attention at all. Another 30 per cent of the sufferers can keep their attacks under control. They can live normal lives. Even without medicine deterioration is rare. Did you know that Caesar was epileptic—and Napoleon? They were not exactly incompetent.

Teachers should try to keep children with epilepsy in their regular classes. If that is impossible, schools should make special provisions for them elsewhere. The worst thing schools can do is to expel them. Yet many schools do just that.

Want to help epileptics? I hope so. Join the American Epilepsy Federation. For information write to the headquarters at 77 Reservoir Road, Quincy, Mass.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Is epilepsy inherited? Or does it come from injuries to the brain?"

(A) Strictly speaking, epilepsy is not inherited. However, the predisposition to develop epilepsy may be inherited. Injuries can also cause the disease. Doctors tell me that a large share of people with epilepsy trace their trouble to accidents.

Dressy Windows

NEW YORK (UPI)—To give a formal living room a summery look, a dressy window shade fabric, like the woven shadow-stripe in white or eggshell, is most effective.

Flattering, too, is a plisse pattern which alternates a softly shirred texture with self-stripes in a variety of stitched designs, reports the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

Jose Iturbi Planning Varied Marin Program

A varied program is promised by Jose Iturbi, world-famed pianist, in his San Rafael concert Sunday afternoon.

Iturbi will make his first appearance under Marin Music Chest auspices at 3 p.m. Sunday in Forest Meadows of Dominican Convent.

He announced his recital will include "Etude's Symphoniques"by Schumann; "Sonata in B Minor" by Chopin; Brahms' "Variations on a Theme by Pananini"; Ravel's "Ondine"; Albeniz's "Allegro, Granados and Corpus Christie in Seville"; and his own "Cradle Song."

For encores, Iturbi has promised more of Chopin and some of his own compositions.

Gates of Forest Meadows will open at 1:30 p.m. Parking will be permitted on the Coleman School grounds.

Iturbi, born in Valencia, Spain, received his musical education there and in Paris. He has been a United States resident since 1930, and is famous throughout the world not only as a pianist but also as composer and conductor.

Measles, Mumps Disappearing

Measles and mumps have almost disappeared in Marin County—but not quite.

The two diseases that have headed the list almost every week for three years were still on top last week, according to the report of Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. But only five new measles cases and four mumps cases were reported.

Two cases of shigellosis, an unusual disease, were reported in Forest Knolls. There were also two cases of syphilis and one each of gonorshea, streptococcic infection, salmonella and meningitis.

This Firm Covers Everything To Do With Floors In The Home

Gunther Hagel, owner of a home and building maintenance firm in Santa Venetia for the past 10 years, has purchased the Nukleen Rug and Upholstery Cleaning in Mill Valley from Grant Gibson, who will remain on as his manager. New location of the firm is at 5 F Street, San Rafael.

Gibson is a member of the National Institute of Rug Cleaning and has been in that field in Marin County for about four years. He has also specialized in the use of aniline dyes for restoring faded rugs.

A good move for Hagel, who can now give complete maintenance service from floors to carpets.

NEW LOCATION for the Accurate Appliance Center, which has been at 2 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, is in quarters three or four times as large at 1609 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Ed Dvorak, who has made his move a double one by transferring his residence from San Anselmo to Marinwood Estates, will handle a line of used washing machines, dryers, vacuum cleaners and stoves—also their repair; may take on a stock of used furniture items.

CONSTRUCTION has now started on the Two-O-One D Street Apartments in San Rafael, and according to John S. Lewis of Tiburon, who is co-owner with F. Bruce Bernhard of Sausalito and Albert J. Bowler of Oakland, they should be completed and ready for occupancy by Christmas.

This is a 22-unit project, nearly all of them with two bedrooms, being constructed by E. P. Aureguy Construction Co. of San Rafael and handled by J. R. Coleman and Co.

Most of the apartments are of two-story construction with living rooms and kitchens downstairs and bedrooms upstairs. Units have built-in kitchen features and the development will include a swimming pool and children's playground. Rentals run from $145.

A NEW POST for Laurence P. Le Tourneau, Marinwood resident, is that of supervisor of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. agency. He will help direct the company's sales and service operations in the entire Bay Area with particular responsibility for training and supervising new representatives.

LEE WARREN, Marin supervisor of Wilshire Holiday Stations, tells me that his company has taken over the distributorship in this area for the Valvoline Oil Co., which consists of a complete line of oils and greases for passenger cars up to heavy equipment.

MOTOR CRAFT: Prices of 1962 cars are not likely to be too much higher and may even take a slight drop. . . Output of 1961 models last month was highest this year, but January-June total is still off 28 per cent from the first six months in 1960 . . . New car sales generally for the first half of 1961 are also lowest since recession period in 1958, though Ford dealers for the western area consisting of Northern California, Southern Oregan, Northwestern Nevada and Hawaii claim their highest sales record since the second quarter of 1959.

IT APPEARS that Fred Encmark's telephone has been busy since we published his thoughts on what to do with the downtown Court House property—mostly favorable.

"Why hasn't anyone thought of it before?" he's been asked.

"They have," he counters. "But what happens when you don't put grease on a bearing? It dries out."

Blair Recall Plan Subject Of Panel

Proposed recall of County Supervisor J. Walter Blair will be debated on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Calling for Blair's removal will be Harold Stockstad of Tamalpais Valley and Lawrence Livingston Jr., of Sausalito, members of the Recall Blair Committee. Defending the Mill Valley supervisor will be William Johnstone, president of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, and Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, former Republican candidate for Congress.

Moderator Kitty Oppenheimer said questions for the speakers may be telephoned by listeners. A recording of the program will be aired Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

ON WHISKY, TEACHING

American Professor Rips Spanish View

MADRID (UPI)—An American professor has denied charges published here that the United States is a whisky-drinking nation where the universities teach nothing.

The morning paper ABC devoted a full column to a letter from Joseph H. Silverman of the Almo Foundation of the University of California.

The paper last week published an article by Spanish writer Edgar Neville on the death of Ernest Hemingway. In the article, Neville said whisky probably would destroy the United States, and American universities "do not teach anything."

Silverman said he would not enter into an argument about whisky drinking, except to say that Neville's observations were "picturesque."

On the universities, however, Silverman said: "I get the impression that Mr. Neville knows very little about United States universities, and has been content with a contemptuous banality that, through repetition, has been converted into an article of faith for him and many of his compatriots."

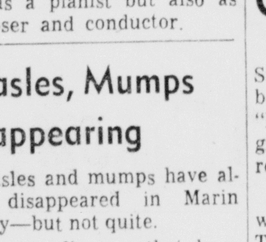

Silverman listed the names of famous Spaniards who have given courses in United States universities, and claimed that "the University of Wisconsin, to give a concrete case, has one of the most renowned centers in the world for medieval Hispanic studies."

Redwood Trees Are Rising Along Redwood Highway

The State Department of Public Works has spent considerable money landscaping Highway 101—the Redwood Highway—from the Richardson Bay Bridge up to the vicinity of the Greenbrae interchange.

The dry winter and the summer heat have taken their toll of the tiny new trees and shrubs. There still isn't much to show for the money spent.

But there will be. It is our understanding that the original contract with the landscaper provided that replacements must be supplied by the contractor for trees and shrubs that fail to survive the first few months. We presume some of those replacements are still to come.

The situation reminds us of newly-occupied tract homes. You may have to look closely to see the landscaping at first, but wait a few years and many of the places look like a jungle. We rather imagine that is the way it will be with our roadside planting.

Have you driven north to Santa Rosa lately? If so, did you notice the clumps of young redwood trees along the freeway from Petaluma on to Santa Rosa?

Many of them are taking shape now and it is easy for one to imagine how striking will be their appearance in the years ahead.

Many of us have been sensitive to the inevitable question from first time visitors: "If this is the redwood highway in the Redwood Empire, where are the redwood trees?"

Now at least there are many planted along the highway; all we have to do is wait a few years for them to take shape.

What about the highway from Greenbrae interchange north and from Petaluma south?

The state now has $61,700 earmarked for landscaping at various points along 101 in Marin County, but San Rafael and Larkspur need to enact billboard control ordinances required by the state before work can proceed.

And there is a $62,000 landscaping project underway along 101 in the vicinity of Petaluma.

Since much of the highway from Terra Linda north is to be expanded to six lanes with additional overpasses, landscaping properly should await completion of all the projects along the way.

But the dream of many will ultimately be fulfilled:

When visitors cross the Golden Gate bridge, arriving in the Redwood Empire, they will in the not-too-distant future see typical Redwood Empire trees and shrubs in profusion along the Redwood Highway.

Old Plant Friends

When traveling in a foreign land it is always a pleasure to recognize old plant friends we have known in Marin. Since plants of all the world seem to thrive here, a person with only a modest fund of botanical knowledge can be pleasantly surprised.

Once while walking between fields of water-cress in Hong Kong's farming section, we noticed a big, spreading plant with red and orange verbena-like blossoms growing wild among the banks of the path. We asked our guide what it was, but he didn't know its English name and indicated it was something of a nuisance.

Later when visiting a friend in Kentfield we were surprised and delighted to see the same plant with slightly different colored blossoms. We learned the name of lantana in this manner.

We also learned from a friend who was with us that lantana also grows wild in Java. When we got home that night we looked up lantana in our encyclopedia and learned further that the species is mostly native to tropical America.

Another example of a tropical plant doing well in Marin.

Baby Sitting Can Be Tougher Job Than Most People Might Imagine

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that make a teen-aged baby sitter wish she belonged to the Peace Corps:

"I'm sorry, but you won't be able to use the phone, Susie. There seems to be something wrong with it. And the TV set is broken, too."

"I meant to give Mary Ann her bath, but at the last minute I got so rushed — you wouldn't mind, would you?"

"We only pay 35 cents an hour, but on the other hand, the experience you get will prove highly useful later when you have a home and children of your own."

"Yes, I suppose it is all right if your boy friend comes by so you can help him with his home work. But, remember, leave all the lights on—and the front door open."

"I do hope the children won't give you much trouble, Susie. The rain kept them in all day, and they have been rampaging around the house like Indians on the warpath."

"Oh, dear, I know you teenagers get so hungry — and there simply isn't a thing left in the refrigerator except two carrots and some lettuce. Do you like lettuce?"

"Don't tell me this pretty young thing is baby-sitting the kids! You go to the movies, honey, and I'll stay home and sit with the sitter."

"I'm afraid we don't have a rock 'n' roll record in the house. But here is a nice Beethoven symphony my husband and I have been planning to listen to ever since we bought it at the super-market. Let us know if you enjoy it."

"I'LL KNEEL behind her when she isn't looking, Sis; then you get in front of her—and push her real hard."

"Little Eloise can't go to sleep unless someone reads to her from her favorite book, 'Bunny Rabbit and His Forest Friends.' Here it is—only 112 pages. If she doesn't fall asleep the first time, read it to her again."

"YOU ONLY had three children to baby sit the last time you were here. Since then we had the twins. The neighbors are going out with us and they are leaving their four children here, too, so altogether you have—let me see: Three and two and four more make—oh, I never was any good at arithmetic."

"Hello, Susie. I'm calling from the country club. I know I told your mother we'd get you home by midnight without fail, but the party is just getting . . ."

20 YEARS AGO

Seven San Rafael policemen, two-thirds of the force, were fired in a drastic department shake-up. Insubordination was charged against most, though one was said to have distributed "vote no" posters before the recent charter amendment election.

A committee of 45 citizens working on proposed revisions of the San Rafael city charter advocated establishment of a city manager form of government.

Plans for starting Mill Valley's projected municipal bus service to San Francisco next Sept. 1 were revealed and the Golden Gate Bridge was asked to grant rates parallel to those accorded Greyhound Lines.

ACLU Accused Of 'Old Trick'

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The recent American Civil Liberties Union sponsored speech by James Roosevelt at Roger Kent's estate reminds us of their hypocrisy.

The ACLU'S main programs seem to be: 1—destroy the internal security programs of the United States by attempting to villify J. Edgar Hoover and the F.B.I. 2—by trying to abolish congressional committees involved in the absolutely vital work of investigating Communist subversion, 3—and to spread Communist propaganda by demanding that American taxpayers provide Red traitors access to our schools . . .

The ACLU literature claims they are for free speech for all: yet Mr. Roosevelt's speech called for removal of Congressional immunity so that the ACLU and others can harass congressmen who have the courage to speak out against Red subversion of our government with slander suits. This is an old trick of the ACLU — threaten those who don't conform with slander and libel suits. In other words, free speech for Communist traitors by slander suits if an American calls these same Communist agents a Communist! .

If the ACLU is so interested in the "truth," let them expose the deceit of our home grown Red traitors.

Marin Plagued By 'Super Patriots'

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We have in Marin a group of super patriots: people unable to run this county to their own satisfaction. Leland Jordan is one of their "loud speakers." This minority pressure group call themselves "Marin Council for Civic Affairs." Once it was "Committee for the Civic Center." They organized right after the results of the election of June 1960, when Vera Schultz and Marshall lost out to Supervisors Blair and Ludy. They are pledged as "poor losers" to harrass and annoy the majority on our present board of supervisors regardless of what the issue may be. Of course they were not heard from until our new supervisors took office last January.

Randy Gould, of the I-J tied-in with this group "by joining them in the course of their little hymn of hate" with his creation: the farcical ballot. He called this ballot "just a gimmick to sell more newspapers," but it was all part of a war dance to force the immediate return to work on the civic center. You will remember this stop work order on the civic center was just a temporary thing to determine if the millions pouring into this Disneyland Special could not be channeled into some source more fitting to the needs of Marin.

The truth of the matter is this Frank Lloyd Wright-designed curiosity has gingerbread that just don't stop. Absorbed in this gingerbread structure is $2,000,000 that had been set aside for a county hospital and home for our aged and infirm.

There are not 20 people living in Marin employed on this civic center, but our working man is just a side issue: what about our elderly and ill people in rooms with doors so small that in the event of a fire or other disaster they could not be moved in their beds, but only by being bundled out somehow or not at all for lack of time. Perhaps even then their only exit would be down a ramp in a wheelchair or gurney so steep it would take four men to keep it from running out of control.

Planning Commissioner Mary Summers, Supervisors Gnoss and Castro have known since 1956 how badly in need of repairs or rebuilding our county hospital has been. So did Schultz and Marshall . . . but they are out. These people are guilty of a most inhumanitarian act for taking the funds for the hospital and sinking it in "only the first stage" of the ornate civic center. Not one of these people would care to explain why the civic center took priority over the needs of our senior citizens at the county hospital. They cannot.

We have around 70,000 registered voters in Marin. About 53,000 voted in the June 1960 election. I do not know how you voters feel, 70,000 strong, about a petition signed by 10,000 (half of which are unchecked names) but I feel that it is illegal, cheered on by Mr. Jordan and others of his ilk. Certainly it is immoral as it directly opposes the wishes and principles of the vast majority of voters.

Now the bumbling super patriots of Marin are demanding we keep the office of county administrator. The cost of this office was $100,000 in 1959-60. This amount was salved over: camouflaged by deceptively hiding a lot of the expense of this office in other budget items. And on our super patriots bumble with a demand for a special election, which will cost the taxpayers $20-25,000.

All of us have more to do than run in and out of the courthouse heckling the majority on our board of supervisors—and we haven't the time nor care to waste any tearing around getting petitions signed, but, we can turn out 70,000 strong and go to the polls next June 1962. By merely keeping to the right we can trounce the Super Patriots.

BENNETT CERF

When F. Scott Fitzgerald's daughter Frances was 11 years old, the famous novelist (author of "The Great Gatsby" and "This Side of Paradise") sent her this capsule of advice while she was in summer camp:

"Darling Scotty: It's okay to worry about these four things: courage, cleanliness, efficiency, and horsemanship. But don't you EVER worry your pretty little head about popular opinion, dolls, the past, the future, growing up, parents, boys, disappointments—or failure unless it comes through your own fault."

There are just two words in the English language that contain all the vowels (including the optional "Y") in their regular order. They are "facetiously" and "abstemiously."

Spider's Work Rivals Golden Gate Bridge As Engineering Marvel

Even wonderful Mill Valley can't claim the Golden Gate Bridge. We're merely nearby.

But right in the yard of the Gould home up on a Mill Valley ridge we now have a bridge marvel as great in its way as the Golden Gate Bridge.

Everything is relative, as Mr. Einstein so ably proved. Our equivalent of the big bridge is relatively pretty hot stuff.

For instance, the Golden Gate Bridge is so high that if you jump off, it is certain that you will run up a straight down speed of 80 miles an hour by the time you reach the water. The California Highway Patrol disapproves, perhaps because the state limit is 65.

Anyhow, the big bridge is high, but even so its height is only about 1/45th of its length (220 feet as against 8,981 feet).

Our home bridge height is more than two-thirds of the length.

Of course this happens to be a height of 10½ feet as against a length of 15 feet, but still—what can you expect of one small spider?

That this critter somehow contrived single-handed, or single-pawed, to sling a film of thread a distance of 400 times his own size, and at a dizzy height 250 times his own size—equivalent of about one-third of a mile for a man—has me stupefied with admiration.

I DON'T KNOW either how he did it, or why, unless for simple love of accomplishing a job spectacular even in the marvelous world of spiders. It runs from our second-floor sun porch rail to the high cypress hedge.

Other more pedestrian spiders around our place are catching a lot more flies with a lot less work. They span shorter distances lower down and criss-cross to a point where even I am stopped, though not eaten.

This spiderweight Joseph B. Strauss has had little but self-admiration (and perhaps the plaudits of a spouse) out of his achievement.

After by means unknown to me getting his bridge slung across the height, our spider friend has found no tolls due to traffic across, so far as I can observe. So he has dropped another thread from about the middle, and attached that to a bush top, and achieved a small network of little value and obviously a half-hearted job anyhow.

My notion is that the spider bridge-builder is an improvident genius who probably lives from the proceeds of some other easier closer-knit web constructed lower down by his wife, who like all females is practical.

This is a great lesson and ever since noting it I have tried to think of ways of being practical.

COUNTY CLERK George S. Jones provided a helpful word last week on the occasion of his birthday, when all the supervisors and 'most everybody else in the court house came scampering to share his surprise cake with "75" in candles, provided by Bill Fusselman.

Quoth Clerk Jones benignly, "I hope all of you live to the ripe old age of 75. But," he went on with the practical triumphing over the sentimental, "the thing to shoot at isn't 75 but 72.

"Get to 72 and you've made it—you can earn any amount and still get Social Security. That's the point where you cash in."

"I've never sought to emulate the ant, a busy bore as I see him.

But if I can take our county clerk and my Mill Valley spider as my advisors, and hang on tight the way both of them have, it will be good news for me.

And bad news for the community, most likely.

Time Running Out For Solution Of Population Explosion Problems

WASHINGTON—It is time that all of us, not just the experts, got a clear grasp of what we are reading about when the ominous phrase, "population explosion," comes into the headlines.

Is the population explosion somebody else's problem or is it everybody's problem, even bearing directly on the cold war?

The president of the Population Reference Bureau, Robert C. Cook, says that the central question which we must face—and answer—is: "Will human fertility be brought within bounds in time to avert a global tragedy?"

The "global tragedy" is such a rapid and relentless rise in population that underdeveloped countries tend to lose all prospect and all hope of relieving their grinding poverty.

"Among the most important elements in an effective attack on poverty and ignorance," says Mr. Cook, "is the universal application of technology to control fertility, to restore a balance of births and deaths, and thus check excessive growth. Essential to this is an understanding of basic arithmetic—that numbers per se are the enemy of quality of living—that people who improvidently worship the stork doom their children and their children's children to poverty and despair."

JUST HOW EXPLOSIVE is the population explosion? Is it really getting out of hand or are the experts trying to scare us? Here are the facts, here is the human multiplication of world population growth since 1650:

1850	1 billion
1920	2 billion
1960	3 billion
2000	6 billion

The significance of these figures is not just that total population is rising at breakneck speed, but that the rate of growth is rising at breakneck speed. The key fact is that the interval between doubling of the earth's population has shrunk from over three centuries when the Pilgrims came ot Massachusetts to just 40 years. In other words, the rate of population growth is more than 750 per cent faster than at the time of the pilgrims.

To illustrate what this means to the United States—estimated U. S. population by 2050—one billion.

WE KNOW THAT all kinds of problems beset our best efforts to further the economic progress of the underdeveloped nations, including shortage of investment capital, lack of trained human talent, unstable governments. But we are just beginning to realize that a tremendous barrier is the high population growth rate. Eugene Black, president of the World Bank, puts it this way:

"I must be blunt. Population growth threatens to nullify all our efforts to raise living standards in many of the poorer countries. We are coming to a situation in which the optimist will be the man who thinks the present living standards can be maintained. The pessimist will not look even for that. Unless population growth can be restrained, we may have to abandon for this generation our hopes of economic progress in the crowded lands of Asia and the Middle East."

If realizing the nature and gravity of the population explosion is the essential first step toward solving it, then we are making a beginning. But the margin of time is thin.

FRANKLY SPEAKING...

From one homemaker to another... I too was confused somewhat when reading all the supermarket ads, what with all those fantastic claims about low prices, quality meats, fresh produce, etc., etc., etc. Really, I got to the point where I found that I was actually wearing myself out running from market to market until the other day I spoke to a satisfied UNITED SHOPPER who actually showed me that I could save valuable time and money by doing ALL my shopping at UNITED. I found that UNITED has the lowest, low prices... the finest of fruits and vegetables in their garden wonderland... AND... they carry U.S.D.A. CHOICE GRADE MEAT exclusively! (You should see those meat cutters care for the meat, too!) They actually have the finest selection of "name brands" that I've ever seen! And those wide aisles... HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

You Should Try Some Psychology When There's A Choice To Make

When you have a choice of finesses, psychology is often your best guide.

Opening lead — ◇ 4

West opens the four of diamonds, and you finesse dummy's queen. This loses to the king, and back comes the ten of diamonds to dummy's ace.

If you're counting losers, it's a little hard to see the right play. It seems that you must lose two clubs and two diamonds.

Try counting winners: five trumps, two hearts and two aces. You need one additional trick. The only hope is to lead a low heart from dummy. You can develop a third heart trick if East has the queen or ten of hearts.

MATHEMATICS DOESN'T HELP: You lead a low heart from dummy, and East follows with a small card. Should you play the jack or the nine of hearts from your hand?

Mathematics won't help you choose the right play. If East has the queen of hearts you should play the jack; but if East has the ten of hearts you should play the nine. The two possibilities are equally likely.

As a matter of psychology, however, the two cases are not equal. If East has the queen of hearts, what will he do when a low heart is led from dummy? He'll take his queen and be glad to get it.

If East fails to play the queen of hearts, you should assume that he doesn' have it. In this case, your best chance is to play the nine of hearts. You assume that East lacks the queen of hearts but may not have the ten.

As it turns out, the nine of hearts does force out the queen. West cashes a diamond and switches to clubs. You take the ace of clubs and the jack of hearts. Then you draw three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and cash the top hearts to get rid of both losing clubs.

DAILY QUESTION: With neither side vulnerable, partner opens with three diamonds. The next player passes, and you hold:

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three notrump. Partner should have a worthless hand aside from about seven diamonds to the king-jack. Game at diamonds should be out of the question, but you may "steal" game at notrump if the opponents fail to take their tricks at once.

Marin City Council To Meet Aug. 7

The Marin City Tenants Council will hear a review of new federal legislation affecting housing at its next meeting Aug. 7, Hardy Westmore, public affairs chairman, announced today.

Monday night the council considered the lack of television antennaes for the new housing project and planned to take the matter up at its next meeting, when a report may be made on prices to install the equipment.

Santa Venetia Boys Find .45 Automatic

Two boys in Santa Venetia found a .45 caliber automatic pistol with belt and holster near Joe's Landing Monday afternoon.

Donnie Balek, 12, of 810 La Playa Road, and Charles Scholscha, 12, of 629 Vendola Drive, found the weapon and turned it over to Sheriff's Sgt. E. E. Mythaler. Three clips were also found, but no bullets.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LINCOLN'S CAVERN — This man-made cavern under the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., would be turned into a museum for tourists—if Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) has his way. Schwengel favors remodeling the cavern to provide a museum where visitors can learn about Lincoln. With Schwengel is Randle Truett, chief historian for the National Capital Parks. (AP Wirephoto)

Lawmaker Proposes Lincoln Museum In Man-Made Cave

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the surprise of almost everyone, there is a place to hide in case of an atomic attack on Washington.

It's a man-made cave, directly under the Abraham Lincoln Memorial, a cavern so big it's busy creating its own stalactites and stalagmites.

But if Rep. Fred Schwengel (R- Iowa) has his way, it will be more than a vast hideaway. It will be turned into an underground museum in which the 2.5 million memorial visitors each year can learn more of their, and Echwengel's favorite hero.

Schwengel and Randle Truett, chief historian for the National Capital Parks, took a couple of reporters on a conducted tour of the cave.

"This," Schwengel said, as we climbed the steps to where Lincoln sits pondering, "is the most visited memorial in the whole world."

To Schwengel, this is as it should be.

"Lincoln is the most American of our American presidents," he said. "He had the spirit of our forefathers."

Schwengel leads the Lincoln bloc in Congress. When he was a boy, he bought his first Lincoln book, for 10 cents. It now is worth around $10 and has been joined by 599 other books and 54 pictures of Lincoln.

And Schwengel climbed down the ladder into the dingy cave below with the enthusiasm of a collector on the trail of an original copy of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

It's a huge hole, all right. About 165 by 60 by 60 feet.

Apparently the builders had to clear away a lot of dirt in order to drive pilings heavy enough to support the weight of the Memorial. On the pilings they erected huge concrete pillars.

When they finished, they didn't bother to fill the huge cavity.

Schwengel has written Conrad Wirth, National Park Service director, for a preliminary estimate of what it would cost to turn the cave into a museum. And he has even figured out how, at a dime or a quarter a throw, it could start paying for itself.

Well, things don't happen fast in Washington. In 1867 Congress decided a memorial should be built to Lincoln. In 1911 it created a commission to do the job. On May 30, 1922, with 50,000 looking on, the magnificent monument was finally dedicated.

Still, one has to start somewhere. And Schwengel, a one-time teacher, is eager to begin.

"We could all be better citizens," he said, "if we could understand American history and American traditions."

American Steel Companies Opening New Sources Of Foreign Iron Ore

NEW YORK (AP) — American steel companies continue to open up new sources of foreign iron ore, even as they wait in the slow days of July for the expected pickup in production in August or September.

At the same time, ore production dwindles in the once dominant American iron mines.

U. S. Steel has just shipped its first trial cargo of Quebec ore for the Fairless Works near Philadelphia. It is testing out its harbor loading machinery at Port Cartier, Quebec, designed to handle 6,000 tons an hour. The ore comes 200 miles from the north by a train on a specially built line.

If the tests prove out, the harbor on the St. Lawrence will be completed to handle the largest ore carriers now afloat. It will be 50 feet deep, 2,500 feet long and 450 feet wide. Ore will be stockpiled there in the summer for loading when the rail line may be snowbound.

Ore also is coming in from Labrador mines developed in recent years as the rich ores of the Lake Superior district began to run out. The Canadian ore helps feed the hungry steel mills of the Midwest as well as those along the West Coast.

In the last three years the greatest volume of foreign ore has come from Venezuela where a mountain of almost solid iron ore is being mined. Much of this ore goes to East Coast steel mills, but some is sent to the mills around Birmingham, Ala.

The American Iron & Steel Institute reports the United States imported 38,774,625 net tons in in 1960. This compared with 1.3 million tons in 1945.

In 1960 Venezuela sent 16.3 million tons, Chile 4.4 million, Peru three million, Brazil 1.6 million, Liberia one million, along with smaller amounts from Mexico, British West Africa and Sweden.

Liberia is stepping up iron ore production fast, with an eye on the growing Western European market as well as the U. S. one.

In the fabled American iron country at the head of the Great Lakes, the story is different. High grade ores there are petering out.

In 1948 shipments from the Mesabi Iron Range were 69 million tons. In 1959 shipments were cut to 36 million tons, partly because of a strike. In 1960 the figure rose to 55 million tons, largely because the steel mills were working at capacity the first part of the year in anticipation of a strike.

Shipments now include 11 million tons or more of toconite, processed at considerable cost from low grade ore.

Ray Nolan, state lands and minerals director for Minnesota, explains that "because the blast furnace operators are demanding a much higher grade of iron ore, it is necessary now for us to concentrate iron ore which we used to ship as mined."

Among other American steel companies investing in and developing iron ore sources in Canada are Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National, Armco, Wheeling, Inland Steel and Hanna Ore Mining Co.

The St. Lawrence Seaway has made Midwest American markets more accessible to Canadian ore. But while imports have been on the rise, American iron companies haven't been idle. Upgrading their ores by processes called Beneficiation present day concentrate are higher in iron content than the regular ore shipped for years from the rich Mesabi range.

Steelmen say these blue ribbon concentrates allow five blast furnaces to produce now as much as six and a half used to turn out. Thus, even if they hadn't built a single new blast furnace, steelmakers could have increased their annual capacity by more than 25 million tons a year through Beneficiation.

And, taking the risks of foreign turmoil into account, the Lake Superior district doubtless will remain the most important single source of iron ore for the American steel industry.

Nicasio Volunteers Set Firemen's Ball

The Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department will holds its 15th annual ball at 7 p.m. Saturday at Rancho Nicasio.

The festivities will include a chicken barbecue dinner, a variety show presented by KPIX announcer Bill Endicott and television's Captain Satellite, a fashion show by Modern Eve, and dancing to the music of Jack Barnes and his orchestra.

Postal authorities estimate that by 1970 90 billion pieces of mail will be handled annually.

Marin Psychologist Chamber Lecturer

William H. Pemberton, clinical psychologist of Mill Valley, is clinical lecturer in communication for the annual management conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce under way this week at Santa Clara University.

The conference, to acquaint chamber of commerce executives and other organization managers with new skills and philosophies, will continue through Saturday. Dr. Pemberton recently returned from lecturing for a week each at University of Washington and University of Denver.

Mill Valley Plans To Plant 50 Trees

Members of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission took a stroll through the city's business districts Monday night with Chamber of Commerce leaders and reached accord on how to beautify the areas by planting about 50 trees.

Commission members, chamber leaders and Pacific Gas and Electric Co. representativ will meet later to decide where to plant the trees.

$2 Million In Highway Jobs

Nearly two million dollars worth of state highway projects in Marin County were completed during the fiscal year just closed, according to a report given yesterday to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Completed projects were totaled at $1,934,100 for the year with another $1,451,000 listed as "financed but not under contract" and an "under contract" total of $1,735,100.

JUST FOR PRACTICE—Dick Blaustein, who appears in double role of the sport-loving lord and the buffooning servant, Biondello, in "Taming of the Shrew," gets in practice for the Elizabethan period by handling a real live hunting falcon. A falcon is not used in the play, however. "Julius Caesar" will be presented on Fridays and "Taming of the Shrew" on Saturdays at the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club Hall.

TAM VALLEY PLAYERS

Effort Behind Scenes For 'Julius,' 'Shrew'

Efforts of 18 costumers will be represented Friday and Saturdays nights when the Tamalpais Valley Players present "Julius Caesar" and "Taming of the Shrew."

"Julius Caesar" will be presented on Fridays at 8:30 p.m. running until Aug. 4, and "Taming of the Shrew" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on Saturdays until Aug. 5.

Miriam Burdick, costume chairman for "Julius Caesar," went back to the Samuel French acting edition of the play and used a notebook from Director Cliff Badger's Shakespearean course at Northwestern University's school of drama for background.

Her assistants include Annette Helmstaedter, Marrin Borg, Pat Louis, Paula White and Anne Zipf. Most of the weapons were produced by Morrie Batz.

In charge of the costume department for "Taming of the Shrew," is Esther Allen. Her research sources included paintings of Elizabethan nobles, photographs from Broadway productions, the Ashland Festival and the Globe theater in San Diego.

Her assistants were Kitty Adams, Kim Badger, Rosemary Barr, Jan Blaustein, Miriam Burdick, Caroline Fetler, Adriana Grant, Annette Helmstaedter, Betty Lou Lenz, Pat Louis and Bets Lowden.

Ticket and program information can be obtained at the Art Store, 11 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

County Planners Meeting Monday On Del Miramar

The Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing Monday on the tentative map of Del Miramar, an 18-acre subdivision proposed east of Del Mar Estates.

The area is single family, medium density zoned and is proposed to be divided into 30 lots, each with a minimum of 10,000 square feet. The matter is 14th of an agenda of approximately 30 items. The planning commission will begin its meeting at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

The commission will hold first of two public hearings on the proposed planned residential master plan for Tiburon Estates. The 10.7 acres are east of Greenwood Lagoon, bounded by future Cecelia Drive, Reedlands Estates, and Tiburon Boulevard on the Tiburon Peninsula.

The hearing on the proposed master plan is scheduled 13th. The second public hearing will be on Aug. 7.

'Winnie The Pooh'

"Winnie the Pooh" will be presented at 10:45 a.m. tomorrow and Friday at Sir Francis Drake High School little theater in San Anselmo. The play is the project of the four-week summer school drama class of Robert Johnson. No admission will be charged.

Investment Group Makes San Rafael Its Headquarters

Growth Properties, a corporation formed late last year to acquire and develop investment properties in Northern California, has selected San Rafael for its permanent headquarters, Edgar T. Lindner, president, announced today.

The corporation's general offices will be opened July 27 in Room 204, Albert Building, 1010 B Street. During the firm's formative stages business has been handled in the offices of its attorneys, Gardner, Riede and Ellilott, San Rafael.

Officers of Growth Properties, in addition to Lindner, are: Charles H. Allen, co-owner, Frank Howard Allen and Co., vice president; Robert W. Elliott, San Rafael attorney, secretary, and Jack M. Goldthwaite, vice president, Crocker-Anglo National Bank in San Rafael, treasurer.

Humboldt Editor Makes Her Point

Blue Lake in Humboldt County has a lady editor who reminds you never to underestimate the power of a woman and the press.

Mrs. Wava DeMotte, editor-publisher of the Blue Lake Advocate, printed a two-line filler every week for two years: "What Blue Lake Needs Most Is a Chamber of Commerce."

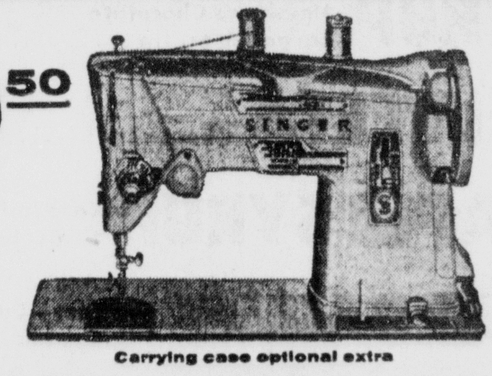

This summer the Blue Lake Chamber of Commerce was organized with 110 paid-up members. Its secretary—and best assurance for success: Mrs. Wava DeMotte.

Outstanding Sergeant

Army Sgt. Joseph M. Capps, whose wife, Sidna, lives at 1 Fawn Drive, Corte Madera, recently received a certificate of achievement at Fort Cronkhite. Seregant Capps was commended for outstanding performance of his duties.
